PROVERBS

1 The proverbs[a][*] of Sol′o·mon[□] the son of David, the king of Israel,[△] [2] for one to know wisdom and discipline,[◊] to discern the sayings of understanding,[+] [3] to receive the discipline that gives insight,[⊜] righteousness and judgment and uprightness,[×] [4] to give to the inexperienced ones shrewdness,[#] to a young man knowledge and thinking ability.[k]

5 A wise person will listen and take in more instruction,[m] and a man of understanding is the one who acquires skillful direction,[n] [6] to understand a proverb and a puzzling saying,[r] the words of wise persons[s] and their riddles.[t]

7 The fear of Jehovah is the beginning of knowledge.[u] Wisdom and discipline are what mere fools have despised.[v]

8 Listen, my son, to the discipline of your father,[y] and do not forsake the law of your mother.[○][z] [9] For they are a wreath of attractiveness to your head[*] and a fine necklace to your throat.[□]

10 My son, if sinners[⊙] try to seduce you, do not consent.[△] [11] If they keep saying: "Do go with us. Do let us lie in ambush for blood.[◊] Do let us lie in concealment for the innocent men without any cause.[+] [12] Let us swallow them down alive[⊜] just like She′ol,[b][×] even whole, like those going down into a pit.[#] [13] Let us find all sorts of precious valuables.[k] Let us fill our houses with spoil.[n] [14] Your lot you ought to cast in among

[a] "Them." The Hebrew pronoun here is in the masculine gender and hence may not refer to "commandment" and "law" of verse 20, both these words being feminine, but may refer to the father's "sayings," a masculine word, plural, as in Proverbs 4: 10, 20. [b] Or, "she," the Hebrew pronoun being feminine. [c] "Bad woman," MVgSyT; "married woman" (wife of a companion), LXX. [d] "Soul." M, neph'esh; LXX, psy.chē'; Vg, a'ni.ma.

Proverbs of Sol'o·mon.

A wise son[⊙] is the one that makes a father[○] rejoice,[v] and a stupid son is the grief of his mother.[y] [2] The treasures of the wicked one will be of no benefit,[z] but righteousness is what will deliver from death.[*] [3] Jehovah will not cause the soul of the righteous one to go hungry,[□] but the craving of the wicked ones he will push away.[△]

4 The one working with a slack hand will be of little means,[◊] but the hand of the diligent one is what will make one rich.[+]

5 The son acting with insight is gathering during the summertime;[⊚][⊜] the son acting shamefully is fast asleep during the harvest.[○][*]

6 Blessings are for the head of the righteous one,[#] but as regards the mouth of the wicked ones, it covers up violence.[d][k] [7] The mention of the righteous one is due for a blessing,[n] but the very name of the wicked ones will rot.[r]

8 The one wise in heart will accept commandments,[s] but the one foolish with his lips will be trodden down.[t]

9 He that is walking in integrity will walk in 17 Let your heart not be envious of sinners,[○][z] but be in the fear of Jehovah all day long.[*] [18] For in that case there will exist a future[□] and your own hope will not be cut off.[△]

19 You, O my son, hear and become wise, and lead your heart on in the way.[◊]

20 Do not come to be among heavy drinkers of wine,[+] among those who are gluttonous eaters of flesh.[⊕] [21] For a drunkard and a glutton will come to poverty,[×] and drowsiness will clothe one with mere rags.[#]

22 Listen to your father who caused your birth,[k] and do not despise your mother just because she has grown old.[n] [23] Buy truth[◎] itself[r] and do not sell it—wisdom and discipline and understanding.[s] [24] The father of a righteous one will without fail be joyful;[t] the one becoming father to a wise one will also rejoice in him.[u] [25] Your father and your mother will rejoice, and she that gave birth to you will be joyful.[v]

26 My son, do give your heart to me and may those eyes of yours take pleasure in my own ways.[y] [27] For a prostitute is a deep pit and a foreign woman is a narrow well. [28] Surely she, just like a robber, lies in wait;[*] and among men she increases the treacherous ones.[□]

29 Who has woe? Who has uneasiness?[◊] Who has contentions?[+] Who has concern?[⊕] Who has wounds for no reason? Who has dullness of eyes? [30] Those staying a long time with the wine,[k] those coming in to search out mixed wine.[n] [31] Do not look at wine[○] when it exhibits a red color, when it gives off its sparkle in the cup, [when] it goes with a smoothness.[r] [32] At its end it bites just like a serpent,[◎][s] and it secretes poison just like a viper.[t] [33] Your own eyes will see strange things[a] and your own heart will speak perverse things.[v] [34] And you will certainly become like one lying down in the heart of the sea, even like one lying down at the top of a mast.[y] [35] "They have struck me, but I did not become sick; they have smitten me, but I did not know it.[z] When shall I wake up? I shall seek it yet some more."[*]

24 Do not be envious of bad men[□] and do not show yourself craving to get in with them.[△] [2] For violence is what their heart keeps meditating and trouble is what their own lips keep speaking.[◊]

3 By wisdom[○] a household will be built up[+] and by discernment it will prove firmly established.[⊕] [4] And by knowledge will the interior rooms be filled with all precious and pleasant things of value.[×]

5 One wise in strength is an able-bodied man,[#] and a man of knowledge is reinforcing power.[b][k] [6] For by skillful direction you will carry on your war,[n] and in the multitude of counselors there is salvation.[r]

7 For a foolish one true wisdom is too high;[c][s] in the gate he will not open his mouth.

8 As for anyone scheming to do bad, he will be called a mere master at evil ideas.[u]

9 The loose conduct of foolishness is sin,[v] and a ridiculer is something detestable to mankind.[y]

10 Have you shown yourself discouraged in the day of distress?[z] Your power will be scanty.

[a] At the end of this book of Proverbs M displays the three letters or trigrammaton חזק (Heth, Zayin, Qoph), three Hebrew letters that are found in the name Hez.e.ki′ah that appears at Proverbs 25:1. This trigrammaton would therefore stand as King Hez.e.ki′ah's signature to the copy-work done by his men, his scribes, to signify that the work had been completed. We find this trigrammaton affixed to the books of the Hebrew Bible through 2 Kings, namely, Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, Deuteronomy, Joshua, Judges, 2 Samuel and 2 Kings. Evidently after King Hez.e.ki′ah's death his trigrammaton got different forms and additions in the Hebrew manuscripts. Later writers and editors apparently lost the origin and meaning of the trigrammaton, and it has generally been translated to mean "Be strong!" as if it had been appended for the encouragement of subsequent copyists. See printed edition of the Hebrew text by the Soncino Press (1947, 1950, 1951); the Meier Halevy edition by the Hebrew Publishing Company, New York City; Biblia Hebraica, by Edward Van der Hooght, London, England (1825), Leipzig, Germany (1875); the Hebrew-Hispaniola text, Constantinople (1905); The Twenty-four Books of the Holy Bible—Hebrew and English, by Isaac Leeser.

[a] M, Qo.hel′eth. In Hebrew this is an active participle of the active verb qa.hal′ (meaning "to congregate or assemble") and is in the feminine gender, although King Sol′o.mon applies it to himself. [b] Or, "assembler; convener; convoker." And so also Aq and Sym render it. M, qo.hel′eth; LXXVg, "ec.cle.si.as′tes," meaning "a member of an ec.cle′si.a [or, congregation; assembly]." [c] "The greatest vanity!" Literally, "Vanity of vanities," M*LXX*VgSy. [d] Or, "an earthling man." M, ha-a.dam′. [e] "Under the sun." This phrase occurs twenty-nine times in the book of Ecclesiastes. [f] "The wind." Literally, "It," M; and possibly referring to the sun in its movements southward and northward between the summer and winter solstices. [g] "It." Literally, "the wind"; but in our translation we have transferred the expression "the wind" to the beginning of the verse. [h] "The wind." M, ha-ru′ahh; LXX, to pneu′ma; compare Genesis 1:2, footnote d.

10 And anything that my eyes asked for I did not keep away from them.[z] I did not hold back my heart from any sort of rejoicing,[*] for my heart was joyful because of all my toil,[⊐] and this came to be my portion from all my toil.[△] [11] And I, even I, turned toward all the works of mine that my hands had done and toward the toil that I had toiled to accomplish,[◊] and, look!
everything was vanity and a striving after wind, and there was nothing of advantage under the sun.[+]

12 And I, even I, turned to see wisdom[⊖] and madness and folly,[×] for what can the earthling man do who comes in after the king? The thing that people have already done. [13] And I saw, even I, that there exists more advantage for wisdom than for folly,[k] just as there is more advantage for light than for darkness.[○]

14 As regards anyone wise, his eyes are in his head,[n] but the stupid one is walking on in sheer darkness.[r] And I have come to know, I too, that there is one eventuality that eventuates to them all.[s] [15] And I myself said in my heart:[t] "An eventuality like that upon the stupid one[u] will eventuate to me, yes, me."[v] Why, then, had I become wise,[y] I overmuch so at that time? And I spoke in my heart: "This too is vanity." [16] For there is no more remembrance of the wise one than of the stupid one to time indefinite.[z] In the days that are already coming in, everyone is certainly forgotten, and how will the wise one die? Along with the stupid one.[*]

17 And I hated life,[□] because the work that has been done under the sun was calamitous from my standpoint,[△] for everything was vanity

10 A mere lover of silver will not be satisfied with silver, neither any lover of wealth with income.[a][r] This too is vanity.[s]

11 When good things become many, those eating them certainly become many.[t] And what advantage is there to the grand owner of them, except looking [at them] with his eyes?[u]

12 Sweet is the sleep[v] of the one serving, regardless of whether it is little or much that he eats; but the plenty belonging to the rich one is not permitting him to sleep.

13 There exists a grave calamity that I have seen under the sun:[z] riches being kept for their grand owner[b] to his calamity.[•] 14 And those riches have perished[□] because of a calamitous occupation, and he has become father to a son when there is nothing at all in his hand.[△]

10 Whatever has come to be, its name has already been pronounced,[□] and it has become known what man[c] is;[△] and he is not able to plead his cause with one that is more powerful than he is.[◊]

11 Because there exist many things that are causing much vanity,[+] what advantage does a man[a] have? mankind[a] have nothing better under the

11 I returned to see[a*] under the sun that the swift do not have the race,[#] nor the mighty ones the battle,[k] nor do the wise[n] also have the food,[b] nor do the understanding ones also have the riches,[m] nor do even those having knowledge have the favor;[r] because time and unforeseen occurrence befall them all.[s] 12 For man[c○] also does not know his time.[t] Just like fishes[◎] that are being taken in an evil net[u] and like birds that are being taken in a trap,[v] so the sons of men[c] themselves are being ensnared at a calamitous time,[y] when it falls upon them suddenly.[z]

13 Also this I saw as respects wisdom under the sun[*]—and it[d] was great to me: 14 There was a little city and the men[e] in it were few, and there came to it a great king and he surrounded it and built against it great strongholds.[□] 15 And there was found in it a man,[f] needy [but][g] wise, and that one provided escape for the city by his wisdom.[△] But no men remembered that needy man.[f◇] 16 And I myself said: "Wisdom is better than mightiness,[+] but the wisdom of the needy one is despised and his words are not listened to."[⊕]

17 The words of the wise ones in quietness are more to be heard[×] than the cry of one ruling among stupid people.[n]

18 Wisdom is better than implements for fighting,[r] and merely one sinner can destroy much good.[s]

10 Dead flies[a] are what cause the oil of the 4 If the spirit of a ruler should mount up

5 There exists something calamitous that I have seen under the sun,[◇] as when there is a power:[•] 6 Foolishness[c] has been put in many high positions,[⊕] but the rich ones themselves keep dwelling merely in a low condition.

move vexation from your heart and ward off calamity from your flesh,[y] for youth and the prime of life are vanity.[z]

12 Remember, now, your grand Creator[a] in the days of your young manhood,[●] before the calamitous days proceed to come,[□] or the years have arrived when you will say: "I have no delight in them";[△] [2] before the sun and the light and the moon and the stars grow dark,[◇] and the clouds have returned, afterward the downpour;[+] [3] in the day when the keepers of the house tremble and the men of vital energy have bent themselves[⊕] and the grinding women[b][×] have quit working because they have become few and the ladies[c] seeing at the windows[#] have found it dark; [4] and the doors onto the street have been closed,[k] when the sound of the grinding mill becomes low, and one gets up at the sound of a bird[○] and all the daughters[©] of song sound low.[r] [5] Also they have become afraid merely at what is high, and there are terrors in the way.[s] And the almond tree carries blossoms[t] and the grasshopper drags itself along and the caper berry bursts, because man[d] is walking to his long-lasting house[u] and the wailers have marched around in the street;[v] [6] before the silver cord is removed and the golden bowl gets crushed,[y] and the jar at the spring is broken and the water wheel for the cistern has been crushed. [7] Then the dust returns to the earth[○][●]

[a] "Creator." The Hebrew participle of the verb "create" is here in the plural number of grandeur or excellence. [b] "The grinding women." The Hebrew participle here is in the feminine gender, plural number, because the women did the grinding at home and also because the teeth are feminine in gender in Hebrew. [c] "The ladies seeing." Feminine, because the eyes are feminine in gender in Hebrew. [d] M, ha-a·dam′.

just as it happened to be and the spirit[⊙] itself returns to The [true] God[a][○] who gave it.[□]

8 "The greatest vanity!"[b] said the congregator,[c][△] "Everything is vanity."[◇] [9] And besides the fact that the congregator[c] had become wise, he also taught the people knowledge continually,[●] and he pondered and made a thorough search, that he might arrange many proverbs in order.[⊕] [10] The congregator[c] sought to find the delightful words[×] and the writing of correct words of truth.[#]

11 The words of the wise ones are like oxgoads,[k] and just like nails driven in[d][n] are those indulging in collections[e] [of sentences]; they have been given from one shepherd.[r] [12] As regards anything besides these, my son, take a warning: To the making of many books[⊙] there is no end,[○] and much devotion [to them] is wearisome to the flesh.[s]

13 The conclusion of the matter, everything having been heard, is: Fear The [true] God[a] and keep his commandments.[t] For this is the whole [obligation] of man.[f] [14] For The [true] God[a] himself will bring every sort of work into the judgment in relation to every hidden thing, as to whether it is good or bad.[u]

THE SONG OF SOLOMON[a]

1 The superlative song,[b][*] which is Sol′o-mon's:[□] [2] "May he kiss me with the kisses of his mouth,[△] for your expressions of endearment[c] are better than wine.[◇] [3] For fragrance your oils are good.[•] Like an oil that is poured out is your name.[⊙] That is why maidens themselves have loved you.[×] [4] Draw me with[d] you;[#] let us run.[k] The king has brought me into his interior rooms![n] Do let us be joyful and rejoice in you.[r] Do let us mention your expressions of endearment[c] more than wine.[s] Deservedly they have loved you.[t]

5 "A black girl I am but comely,[u] O YOU daughters of Jerusalem,[v] like the tents of Ke′dar,[y] [yet] like the tent curtains of Sol′o·mon. [6] Do not YOU look at me because I am swarthy,[z] because the sun has caught sight of me.[*] The sons of my own mother grew angry with me; they appointed me the keeper of the vineyards,[□] [although] my vineyard, one that was mine, I did not keep.

7 "Do tell me, O you whom my soul has loved,[△] where you do shepherding,[◇] where you make the flock lie down at midday.[•] Just why should I become like a woman wrapped in mourning among the droves of your partners?"

8 "If you do not know for yourself, O you most beautiful one among women,[•] go out yourself in the footprints of the flock and pasture your kids of the goats alongside the tabernacles of the shepherds."[#]

3 “ ‘I have put off my robe. How can I put it back on? I have washed my feet. How can I soil them?’ 4 My dear one himself pulled back his hand from the hole [of the door], and my inward parts[t] themselves became boisterous within me.[b] 5 I got up, even I, to open to my dear one,[u] and my own hands dripped with myrrh[v] and my fingers with liquid[c] myrrh, upon the hollows of the lock.[d] 6 I opened, even I, to my dear one, but my dear one himself had turned away, he had passed along.[y] My very soul had gone out [of me] when he spoke. I sought him but I did not find him.[*] I called him but he did not answer me. 7 The watchmen[□] that were going about in the city found me. They struck me, they wounded me.[△] The watchmen of the walls lifted my wide wrap off me.[◊]

5 "Who is this woman[u] coming up from the wilderness,[v] leaning upon her dear one?"[y]

"Under the apple tree I aroused you.[a][z] There your[a] mother was in birth pangs with you.[a][*] There she that was giving birth to you[a] experienced birth pangs.[□]

6 "Place me as a seal upon your[a] heart,[△] as a seal upon your[a] arm;[◊] because love is as strong as death is,[+] insistence on exclusive devotion[⊕] is as unyielding as She'ol[b] is. EXPLANATION OF THE SYMBOLS USED IN THE LOWER MARGINAL REFERENCES

Aq

Greek translation made by Aq'ui·la, a Jewish proselyte, of the 2d century A.D. A very literal translation of the Hebrew, becoming the official Greek version for the Jews. Origen included it in the 3d column of his Hexapla, current about A.D. 245. See Foreword of the New World Translation of the Christian Greek Scriptures, page 12, ¶ 1.

Ca

Cairo Manuscript of the Prophets, in Hebrew. It contains the Earlier and Later Prophets (see Foreword, Volume I, ¶ 4) and was written by Moses ben Asher in Tiberias in Palestine, A.D. 895. It is in the Karaite Jews' synagogue of Cairo, Egypt. Accidentally discovered about 1890.

DSIa

Dead Sea Scroll of Isaiah, as now possessed by the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. Discovered in the spring of 1947 in a cave near the Dead Sea's northwestern shore, it was originally purchased by the Metropolitan at St. Mark's Monastery of the Syrian Orthodox Church in Jerusalem. Its 54 columns of beautifully preserved Hebrew writing contain the complete text of Isaiah except for a few small lacunae. It is rated as the earliest Hebrew manuscript of the Bible, and is placed by scholars in the latter half of the 2d century B.C., or the first half of the 1st century B.C., or about 100 B.C.

It

"Old Latin" Version, probably originating among Latin-speaking Jews of Carthage in North Africa but later adopted by the Christians. Various Latin versions were circulated before Jerome's production of the Latin Vulgate, and were translations of the Greek Septuagint before Origen revised that Greek text about A.D. 245. Three types of Old Latin versions are identified: (1) the African, the most primitive; (2) the European; and (3) the Italian, probably a revision of the European. Usually called "Itala." The standard edition continues to be that of Pierre Sabatier, Bibliorum Sacrorum latinae versiones antiquae seu vetus italica, issued 1743-49.

L

Leningrad Manuscript, catalogued as No. B 19^{A}, in Hebrew. It is the oldest dated manuscript of the complete Hebrew Bible and was copied A.D. 1008 "from the corrected clear books prepared by the master Aaron ben Mosher ben Asher." It contains the ordinary vocalization of the Hebrew consonants. It is now in the Public Library in Leningrad, Russia.

LXX

Greek Septuagint Version, begun about 280 B.C. The oldest version of the Hebrew Scriptures and a work of Jews.

LXX$^{\aleph}$

Greek Septuagint Version as found in the Codex Sinaiticus, or Sinaitic Manuscript. Of the 4th century. What remains of its translation of the Hebrew Scriptures is fragmentary. Discovered at Mt. Sinai in 1844, it is now in the British Museum, London, England.

LXX^{A}

Greek Septuagint Version as found in the Codex Alexandrinus, or Alexandrine Manuscript, of the complete Bible. Of the middle of the 5th century. From its translation of the Hebrew Scriptures the following have been lost: 1 Kings 12:17 to 14:9 and Psalms 49:20 to 79:11.

LXX^{B}

Greek Septuagint Version as found in the Codex Vaticanus, or Vatican Manuscript No. 1209. Of the 4th century. From its translation of the Hebrew Scriptures two sections are missing: the book of Genesis from its beginning up to chapter 46:28, and Psalms 105:27 to 137:6 (Psalms 106-138 in Hebrew), but which missing passages were restored by a 15th-century scribe. The Books of the Maccabees and the Psalms of Solomon, apocryphal books, are missing. Catalogued in the Vatican Library since the fifteenth century.

Masoretic Hebrew text. Here based mainly on the text of the Leningrad Hebrew Manuscript No. B 19^{A}, a representative of the ben Asher text.

Sam

Samaritan Pentateuch, a Hebrew text mixed with Samaritan idioms, transmitted by the Samaritan community in Palestine independently of the Jewish tradition since the 4th century B.C. Out of 6,000 differences between the Samaritan text and the Hebrew text of the first five books of the Bible only 1,000 are important. A few extant manuscripts are earlier than the 12th century.

Sy

Syriac Peshitta Version. Parts of it may be of Jewish origin, but it was made for Syriac Christians. It is basically a translation directly of the Hebrew Scriptures, although made with some consideration of the Greek Septuagint. Its most valuable manuscript for the translation of the entire Hebrew Bible is the 6th- or 7th-century codex in the Ambrosian Library, Milan, Italy. An earlier manuscript has a date corresponding with A.D. 464.

Sym

Greek translation made by Sym'ma·chus, an Ebionite, about A.D. 200. Though in excellent Greek, it is faithful to the Hebrew text, following its sense. Few fragments survive. Origen included it in the 4th column of his Hexapla, current about A.D. 245.

T

The Targums, or Targumim, meaning "interpretations, translations." At first they were mere oral interpretations or translations in Aramaic made at the reading of the Hebrew Scriptures after Jerusalem's 70-year desolation, and later they were committed to writing. There are Targums on the Law or Pentateuch, on the Prophets and, of later date, on the Hagiographa. The three Targums on the Pentateuch are the Jerusalem Targum, the Targum of Jonathan, and the Targum of Onkelos.

T^{J}

Targum of Jonathan, really pseudo-Jonathan, this Targum on the Pentateuch being falsely assigned to Jonathan ben Uz·zi′el. It should rather be called the Jerusalem Targum. It is a paraphrase in Aramaic extending from Genesis through Deuteronomy. There is another Targum called the Jerusalem Targum on the Pentateuch, but it contains only portions of the Pentateuch and so is usually called the Fragmentary (Jerusalem) Targum.

The Targum on the Prophets, namely, Joshua, Judges, Samuel, Kings, Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and the 12 Minor Prophets, is wrongly attributed to the above Jonathan. In language and style it closely resembles the Targum of Onkelos and seems to have been modeled on that Targum and, in places, to have made use of it, but is less literal.

T^{o}

Targum of Onkelos, or Babylonian Targum, on the Pentateuch. Its real author was probably unknown to the Babylonian Jews. It is thought to be the oldest extant of the Aramaic versions. It is more closely allied to Biblical Aramaic and sticks very closely to the Hebrew text. It is based on a Hebrew text practically identical with the Masoretic text.

T^{P}

Palestinian Targum, of which the Fragmentary (Jerusalem) Targum on the Pentateuch is a remnant. It was an older, more complete Jerusalem Targum.

Th

Greek translation made by The·o·do′tion, of Pontus, Asia Minor, between A.D. 180 and 192. It differs little from the Septuagint, like a mere revision. Origen included it in the 6th column of his Hexapla, current about A.D. 245.

PLURAL NUMBER of "YOU" and of VERBS

"YOU" printed in all capital letters denotes the plural number of this pronoun. Also, where the plural number of a verb is not certainly apparent to the reader, it is indicated by printing the VERB in all capitals.

CHAIN REFERENCE

The superior small circle, open (○) or with a dot (⊙), or a superior "p" or "q" denotes that the word that it follows is one of a chain of references, carried on all through the Hebrew Scriptures. In the last volume of our translation of the Hebrew Scriptures we hope to publish an alphabetic list of all words in chain reference, with the opening verse in the Hebrew Scriptures where each chain starts. The side margin cites the next link. Other symbols refer to cross references not in a chain.

The following cross reference symbols *, □, △, ◊, +, ⊕, ×, #, k to n, r to z will lead you to helpful information, such as parallel passages, geographical and biographical points, passages quoted from, etc. The letter "l" behind a cross reference symbol denotes a scripture the thought of which has been misapplied.

The above photostat of the Dead Sea Scroll of Isaiah (DSIa) is the first of its fifty-four columns of well-preserved Hebrew writing, read from right to left. It contains chapter one of Isaiah, from verse 1 to part of verse 26. This opening page contains 29 lines, and the tetragrammaton of the divine name יהוה is still legible in full seven times, cf. lines 3, 10, 12, 13, 21, 23, 27, and the first two letters thereof on line 5.

3 For, look! The [true] Lord,[a ○] Jehovah of armies, is removing from Jerusalem[r] and from Judah support and stay, the whole support of bread[◎] and the whole support of water,[s] 2 mighty[○] man and warrior,[b] judge and prophet,[p] and practicer of divination and elderly man,[t] 3 chief[◎] of fifty[u] and highly respected man[c] and counselor and expert in magical arts, and the skilled charmer.[d v] 4 And I shall certainly make boys their princes, and mere arbitrary power[e] will rule over them.[y] 5 And the people will actually tyrannize one over the other, even each one over his fellow[○] man.[z] They will storm, the boy against the old man[*] and the lightly esteemed one against the one to be honored.[◎□] 6 For each one will lay hold of his brother in the house of his father, [saying:] "You have a garment. A dictator[m] you ought to become to us, and this overthrown mass should be under your hand."[△] 7 He will raise [his voice] in that day, saying:
"I shall not become a wound dresser; and in my house there is neither bread nor a garment.
YOU men must not set me as dictator over the people."[◊]

8 For Jerusalem has stumbled and Judah itself has fallen,[*] because their tongue[○] and their dealings are against Jehovah,[◎] in behaving rebelliously in the eyes of his glory.[◎x] 9 The very against them,[#] and their sin they do tell of just

26 This is the counsel that is counseled against all the earth,[a] and this is the hand that is stretched out against all the nations.[v] [27] For Jehovah of armies himself has counseled, and who can break [it] up?[y] And his hand is the one stretched out, and who can turn it back?[z]

28 In the year that King A'haz died this pronouncement occurred:[*] [29] "Do not rejoice,[□] O Phi·lis'ti·a,[△] any one of you, just because the staff of the one striking you has been broken.[◊] For out of the root of the serpent[○] there will come forth a poisonous snake,[+] and its fruit will be a flying fiery snake.[⊖] [30] And the first-born[⊙] ones of the lowly ones will certainly feed, and in security the poor ones themselves will lie down.[x] And with famine I will put your root to death, and what remains over of you[b] will be killed.[c][#] [31] Howl, O gate! Cry out, O city! All of you must become disheartened, O Phi·lis'ti·a![d] For out of the north a smoke is coming, and there is no one getting isolated from his ranks."[n]

32 And what will anyone say in answer to the messengers[○] of the nation?[r] That Jehovah himself has laid the foundation of Zion,[s] and in her the afflicted ones of his people will take refuge.[t]

The House and to Di'bon,[a][z] to the high[⊙] places, to a weeping. Over Ne'bo[*] and over Med'e·ba[□] Mo'ab itself howls. On all heads in it there is baldness; every beard is clipped.[△] [3] In its streets they have girded on sackcloth.[◊] Upon the roofs[+] thereof[b] and in the public squares thereof[b] everyone thereof[b] howls, going down with weeping.[⊕] [4] And Hesh'bon and E·le·a'leh[#] cry out. As far as Ja'haz[k] their voice has been heard. That is why the armed men of Mo'ab themselves keep shouting. His very soul has quivered within him. [5] My own heart cries out over Mo'ab itself.[r] The runaways thereof[b] are as far along as Zo'ar[s] [and] Eg'lath-she·li'shi·yah. For on the ascent of Lu'hith[m]—with weeping [each] one goes up on it; for on the way to Hor·o·na'im[t] they arouse the outcry about the catastrophe. [6] For the very waters of Nim'rim[u] become sheer desolations. For the green grass has dried up, the grass has come to an end; nothing has become green.[v] [7] That is why the leftovers and their stored goods that they have put up, they keep carrying them away right over the torrent valley of the poplars.[c][y] [8] For the outcry has gone around the territory of Mo'ab.[z] The howling thereof[b] is clear to E·gla'im; the howling thereof is clear to Be'er-e'lim, [9] because the very waters of Di'mon have become full of blood. For upon Di'mon I shall place additional things, such as a lion for the escapees of Mo'ab who escape and for the remaining ones of the ground.[△]

The pronouncement against Egypt:[v] Look! Jehovah is riding on a swift cloud[y] and coming into Egypt. And the worthless gods of Egypt will certainly quiver because of him,[z] and the very heart of Egypt will melt in the midst of it.[•]

2 "And I will goad Egyptians against Egyptians, and they will certainly war each one against his brother, and each one against his companion, city against city, kingdom against kingdom.[□] 3 And the spirit of Egypt must become bewildered in the midst of it,[△] and I shall confuse its own counsel.[◊] And they will be certain to apply to the worthless gods and to the charmers and to the spirit mediums[a] and to the professional foretellers of events.[+] 4 And I will deliver up Egypt into the hand of a hard master,[b] and strong will be the king that will rule over them," is the utterance of the [true] Lord,[c] Jehovah of armies.[⊕]

5 And the water will certainly be dried up from the sea, and the river itself will become parched and actually run dry.[×] 6 And the rivers must stink; the Nile canals of Egypt[d] must become low and parched.[#] The reed and the rush themselves must molder.[e][k] 7 The bare places[f] by the Nile River, at the mouth of the Nile River, and every seedland of the Nile River will dry up.[n] It will certainly be driven away, and it will be no more. 8 And the fishers will certainly mourn, and all those casting fishhooks into the Nile River must express sorrow, and even those spreading fishing nets upon the surface of the water will actually fade away.[r] [9] And the workers in carded flax must become ashamed;[s] also the loom workers on white fabrics. [10] And her weavers[t] must become crushed, all the wage workers grieved in soul.[u]

11 The princes of Zo′an[v] are indeed foolish. As regards the wise ones of Phar′aoh's[○] counselors, [their] counsel is something unreasonable.[y] How will YOU men say to Phar′aoh: "I am the son of wise ones, the son of kings of ancient time"?[z] [12] Where, then, are they—the wise men of yours[*]—that they may now tell you and that they may know what Jehovah of armies has counseled concerning Egypt?[a□] [13] The princes of Zo′an[△] have acted foolishly,[◊] the princes of Noph[b+] have been deceived, the key men of her tribes have caused Egypt[a] to wander about.[⊕] [14] Jehovah himself has mingled in the midst of her[c] the spirit of disconcertedness,[·] and they have caused Egypt to wander about in all its work, just as someone drunk is made to wander about in his vomit.[#] [15] And Egypt will not come to have any work that the head or the tail, the shoot or the rush, can do.[k]

16 In that day Egypt will become like women, and it will certainly tremble[n] and be in dread because of the waving of the hand of Jehovah of armies that he is doing against it.[r] [17] And the ground of Judah must become to Egypt a cause for reeling.[s] Everyone to whom one mentions

18 In that day[u] there will prove to be five cities in the land of Egypt[v] speaking the language of Ca′naan[⊙y] and swearing to Jehovah of armies.[z] The City of Tearing Down[b] will one be said to be.

19 In that day there will prove to be an altar[○] to Jehovah in the midst of the land of Egypt,[*] and a pillar[⊙] to Jehovah beside its boundary.[p□] [20] And it must prove to be for a sign and for a witness to Jehovah of armies in the land of Egypt,[△] for they will cry out to Jehovah because of the oppressors,[◊] and he will send them a savior, even a grand one, who will[c] actually deliver them.[+] [21] And Jehovah will certainly become known to the Egyptians,[⊕] and the Egyptians must know Jehovah in that day, and they must render sacrifice and gift[·] and must make a vow[○] to Jehovah and pay it.[#] [22] And Jehovah will certainly deal Egypt a blow.[k] There will be a dealing of a blow and a healing;[dn] and they must return to Jehovah,[r] and he must let himself be entreated by them and heal them.[s]

The Hebrew expression is now uncertain as to meaning. [c] Or, "as to judgment." [d] "God." M, El.o.him′. [e] "Ar′i.el." Meaning, perhaps, "the altar hearth of God"; or, "the lion of God." Designating Jerusalem here. [f] Or, "as Ar′i.el," M.

you,[a] and I must lay siege to you[a] with a palisade[b] and raise up against you[a] siege works.[*] 4 And you[a] must become low so that you will speak from the very earth, and as from the dust your saying will sound low.[⊕] And like a spirit medium your voice must become even from the earth, and from the dust your own saying will chirp.[×] 5 And the crowd of those strange to you must become just like fine powder,[#] and the crowd of the tyrants just like the chaff that is passing away.[k] And it must occur in an instant, suddenly.[n] 6 From Jehovah of armies you will have attention with thunder and with quaking and with a great sound, stormwind and tempest, and the flame of a devouring fire."[r]

7 And it must occur just as in a dream, in a vision[◎] of the night, regarding the crowd of all the nations that are waging war against Ar′i.el,[c][s] even all those waging war against her, and the siege towers against her and those making things tight for her.[t] 8 Yes, it must occur just as when someone hungry dreams[C] and here he is eating, and he actually awakes and his soul is empty;[u] and just as when someone thirsty dreams and here he is drinking, and he actually awakes and here he is tired and his soul is dried out; thus it will occur with the crowd of all the nations that are waging war against Mount Zion.[v]

[a] "Jehovah," LXXVgSyT and many Hebrew manuscripts and printed editions; A·do·nay', M and DSIa. This is one of the 134 places in which the Jewish Sopherim altered Yᵉho·wah' in the primitive Hebrew text to read A·do·nay'.

Should the potter[a] himself be accounted just like the clay?△ For should the thing made say respecting its maker: "He did not make me"?◊ And does the very thing formed actually say respecting its former: "He showed no understanding"?+

17 Is it not yet but a very little time⊕ and Leb'a·non must be turned into an orchard× and the orchard itself will be accounted just as a forest?# [18] And in that day the deaf ones will certainly hear the words of the book,[k] and out of the gloom and out of the darkness even the eyes of the blind○ ones will see.[n] [19] And the meek ones will certainly increase their rejoicing in Jehovah himself,[r] and even the poor ones of mankind[b] will be joyful in the Holy One of Israel himself,[s] [20] because the tyrant must reach his end,[t] and the bragger must come to his finish,[u] and all those keeping alert to do harm must be cut off,[v] [21] those bringing a man[b] into sin by [his] word,[y] and those who lay bait even for the one reproving in the gate,[z] and those who push aside the righteous one with empty arguments.*

22 Therefore this is what Jehovah has said to the house of Jacob, he that redeemed○ Abraham:⊕□ "Jacob will not now be ashamed, nor will his own face now grow pale;△ [23] for when he sees his children, the work of my hands, in the midst of him,◊ they will sanctify my name,+ and they will certainly sanctify the Holy One of Jacob,⊕ and the God[c] of Israel they will regard with awe.× [24] And those who are erring in [their] spirit will actually get to know understanding,

[9] And his own crag will pass away out of sheer fright, and because of the signal[c][t] his princes must be terrified," is the utterance of Jehovah, whose light is in Zion and whose fire pot[d] is in Jerusalem.[u]

32 Look! A king[○] will reign for righteousness[v] itself; and, as respects princes,[y] they will rule as princes for justice itself.[z] [2] And each one must prove to be like a hiding place from the wind[e][•] and a place of concealment from the rainstorm,[□] like streams of water in a waterless country,[△] like the shadow of a heavy crag in an exhausted land.[◇]

3 And the eyes of those seeing will not be pasted together,[f] and the very ears of those hearing will pay attention.[+] [4] And the heart itself of those who are overhasty will consider knowledge,[⊕] and even the tongue of the stammerers will be quick in speaking clear things.[×] [5] The senseless one will no longer be called generous,[#] and, as for the unprincipled man, he will not be said to be noble;[k] [6] because senselessness is what merely the senseless one will speak,[n] and his very heart will work at what is hurtful,[r] to work at apostasy[s] and to speak against Jehovah what is wayward, to cause the soul of the hungry one to go empty,[t] and he causes even the thirsty one to go without drink itself.[u] [7] As for the unprincipled man, his instruments are bad;[v] he himself has given counsel for even acts of loose conduct,[y] to wreck the afflicted ones with false sayings,[z] even when someone poor speaks what is right.

33 " 'Therefore this is what Jehovah has said concerning the king of As·syr'i·a:[⊕] "He will not come into this city[ˣ] nor will he shoot an arrow there nor confront it with a shield[#] nor cast up a siege rampart against it." '[k]

36 And the angel[⊙] of Jehovah proceeded to go forth and strike down a hundred and eighty-five thousand in the camp[○] of the As·syr'i·ans.[u] When people rose up early in the morning, why, there all of them were dead carcasses.[v] [37] Hence Sen·nach'er·ib[y] the king of As·syr'i·a pulled away and went and returned[z] and took up dwelling in Nin'e·veh.[*] [38] And it came about that as he was bowing down at the house of Nis'roch[□] his god,[a][△] A·dram'me·lech and Shar·e'zer, his own sons, struck him down with the sword[◊] and they themselves escaped to the land of Ar'a·rat.[b][•]

[a] "God." M, el·o·him'; the plural number of el·o'ah being here applied to the false god Nis'roch, to denote excellency or divine powers.
[b] "Ar'a·rat," MVg; "Armenia," LXX; "Kar'do," SyT.

And E'sar-had'don[⊕] his son began to reign in place of him.

38 In those days Hez·e·ki'ah[a] got sick to the point of dying.[•] Accordingly Isaiah[b] the son of A'moz[#] the prophet came in to him[k] and said to him: "This is what Jehovah has said, 'Give orders to your household,[n] for you yourself will indeed die and will not live.' "[v] [2] At that Hez·e·ki'ah[a] turned his face to the wall[y] and began to pray to Jehovah[z] [3] and to say: "I beseech you, O Jehovah, remember,[*] please, how I have walked[□] before you in truthfulness[△] and with a complete heart,[◊] and what was good in your eyes I have done."[•] And Hez·e·ki'ah[a] began to weep profusely.[c]

4 And the word of Jehovah now occurred to Isaiah,[b] saying: [5] "Go[d] and you must say to Hez·e·ki'ah,[a] 'This is what Jehovah the God of David your forefather has said:[ˣ] "I have heard your prayer.[#] I have seen your tears.[k] Here I am adding onto your days fifteen years,[n] [6] and out of the palm of the king of As·syr'i·a I shall deliver you and this city, and I will defend this city.[r] [7] And this is the sign for you from Jehovah that Jehovah will perform this word that he has spoken:[t] [8] Here I am making the shadow of the steps that had gone down on the steps [of the stairs] of A'haz by the sun[u] retrace backward ten steps." ' "[v] And the sun gradually went back ten steps on the steps [of the stairs] that it had gone down.[y]

you[a] did not keep listening.[k] [21] Jehovah himself for the sake of his righteousness[n] has taken a delight in that he should magnify the law and make it majestic.[r] [22] But it is a people plundered and pillaged, all of them being trapped in the holes,[s] and in prison houses they have been kept hidden.[t] They have come to be for plunder without a deliverer, for pillage without anyone to say: "Bring back!"[u] [23] Who among YOU people will give ear to this? [a] "Jehovah," LXX; "the Lord Jehovah," M; "Jehovah God," VgSyT and DSIa. Compare Isaiah 7:7, footnote g. This is one of the 134 passages in which the Jewish Sopherim changed Yeho·wah′, unaccompanied by A·do·nay′ ("the Lord"), into A·do·nay′ in the primitive Hebrew text; however, M has retained both words together in its text, hence having to make the divine name here read Yeho·wih′. [b] The pronoun is in the feminine gender, singular number. [c] "O woman," to show that the one here addressed is in the feminine gender, singular number, and is spoken to as a woman, namely, Jerusalem. [d] "God." M, El·o·him′. [e] "My Delight Is in Her." [a] See verse 1, footnote b.

[b] Or, “staff; rod.” As at 1 Samuel 17:40, 43.

[c] “An almond tree.” M, sha·qēd′; literally meaning “awakening one,” the tree being first to bloom in the spring.

[d] “Am keeping awake.” M, sho·qēd′; to correspond with sha·qēd′ above.

[e] Sir, M; but original reading suggested to be kūr, meaning “furnace.”

[f] “Blown upon” (as respects the fire underneath); or, “set aflame” (to suggest a furnace).

[g] Literally, “face,” M; but see Zechariah 5:8.

[h] Or, “A furnace blown upon is what I am seeing, and its front side is away from the north.” According to Ludwig Koehler, in Kleine Lichter (“Little Lights”), pages 43-45, published in Zurich, Switzerland, in 1945.

17 “And as for you, you should gird up your hips,[#] and you must rise up and speak to them everything that I myself command you.[k] Do not be struck with any terror because of them, in order that I may not strike you with terror before them.[r] [18] But as for me, here I have made you today a fortified city and an iron pillar and copper walls against all the land,[s] toward the kings of Judah, toward her princes, toward her priests and toward the people of the land.[b][t] [19] And they will be certain to fight against you, but they will not prevail against you,[u] for ‘I am with you,’ is the utterance of Jehovah, ‘to deliver you.’ ”[v]

2 And the word of Jehovah proceeded to occur to me,[y] saying: [2] “Go,[c] and you must call out in the ears of Jerusalem, saying, ‘This is what Jehovah has said:[z] “I well remember, on your[d] part, the loving-kindness[e] of your[d] youth,[•]

vah.[x] "Or upon a nation that is like this should not my soul[a] avenge itself?"[#]

10 "Come up against her [vine] rows[b] and cause ruin,[k] but do not YOU men make an actual extermination.[n] Take away her luxuriating shoots, for they do not belong to Jehovah.[r] [11] For the house of Israel and the house of Judah have positively dealt treacherously with me," is the utterance of Jehovah.[s] [12] "They have denied Jehovah, and they keep saying, 'He is not.[t] And upon us no calamity will come, and no sword or famine[○] shall we see.'[u] [13] And the prophets themselves become a wind, and the word is not in them.[v] That is how it will be done to them."

14 Therefore this is what Jehovah, the God[c] of armies, has said: "For the reason that YOU men are saying this thing, here I am making my words in your mouth a fire, and this people will be pieces of wood, and it will certainly devour them."[y]

15 "Here I am bringing in upon YOU men a nation from far away,[z] O house of Israel," is the utterance of Jehovah. "It is an enduring nation.[*] It is a nation of long ago, a nation whose language[d] you do not know, and you cannot hear [understandingly] what they speak.[□] [16] Their quiver is like an open burial place;[△] all of them are mighty men.[◊] [17] They will also certainly eat up your harvest and your bread.[•] The men will eat up your sons and your daughters. 16 "And it must occur that if they will without fail learn the ways of my people in swearing by my name,[⊕] 'As Jehovah is alive!' just as they taught my people to swear by Ba'al,[×] they will also be built up in the midst of my people.[#] [17] But if they will not obey,[k] I will also uproot that nation, uprooting and destroying [it],"[n] is the utterance of Jehovah.

13 This is what Jehovah has said to me: "Go,[a] and you must get for yourself a linen belt and put it upon your hips, but you must not bring it into any water."[r] [2] So I got the belt in accord with the word of Jehovah and put it upon my hips.[s] [3] And the word of Jehovah proceeded to occur to me a second time, saying: [4] "Take the belt that you got, that is upon your hips, and rise up, go to the Eu·phra'tes,[⊙] and hide it there in a cleft of the crag."[t] [5] So I went and hid it by the Eu·phra'tes, just as Jehovah[○] had commanded me.[u]

6 But it came about at the end of many days that Jehovah proceeded to say to me: "Rise up, go to the Eu·phra'tes[v] and take from there the belt that I commanded you to hide there." [7] Accordingly I went to the Eu·phra'tes and dug and took the belt from the place in which I had hid it, and, look! the belt had been ruined; it was not fit for anything.[y]

5 And the word of Jehovah continued to occur to me, saying: [6] " 'Am I not able to do just like this potter[a] to YOU people, O house of Israel?' is the utterance of Jehovah. 'Look! As the clay in the hand of the potter, so YOU are in my hand, O house of Israel.[s] [7] At any moment that I may speak against a nation and against a kingdom to uproot [it] and to pull [it] down and to destroy [it],[t] [8] and that nation actually turns back from its badness against which I spoke,[u] I will also feel sorry[⊙] over the calamity that I had thought to execute upon it.[v] [9] But at any moment that I may speak concerning a nation and concerning a kingdom to build [it] up and to plant [it],[y] [10] and it actually does what is bad in my eyes by not obeying my voice,[z] I will also feel sorry over the good that I said [to myself] to do for its good.'[*]

11 "And now say, please, to the men of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, 'This is what Jehovah has said: "Here I am forming against YOU a calamity and thinking against YOU a thought.[□] Turn back, please, each one from his bad way, and make YOUR ways and YOUR dealings good." ' "[△]

12 And they said: "It is hopeless![◊] For after our own thoughts we shall walk, and we are going to carry out each one the stubbornness of his bad heart."[+]

13 Therefore this is what Jehovah has said: "Ask for yourselves, please, among the nations. Who has heard things like these? There is a horrible thing that the virgin of Israel has done to an excess.[×] [14] Will the snow of Leb'a·non go away from the rock of the open field? Or will

[a] "She'shach," MVg; "Ba'bel [or, Babylon]," T. This may be a cryptographical name for Babylon, by the device known as At·bash', which disguises the true name by taking the last letter of the Hebrew alphabet (taw) for the first (aleph), and the second-last letter (shin) for the second letter (beth), and so on. Thus in "Ba'bel" each beth (or B) would stand for shin, and the lamed would stand for kaph, and the name would become She·shakh'. Delitzsch held that "She'shach" stood for Sis.ku.KI of an old Babylonian royal register. Sis.ku or Sis.ka may have been a district of ancient Babylon. [b] "God." M, El·o·him'.

the people began to hear Jeremiah[a] speaking these words in the house of Jehovah.[s] [8] So it came about that when Jeremiah[a] had completed speaking all that Jehovah had commanded [him] to speak to all the people, then the priests and the prophets and all the people proceeded to lay hold of him, saying: "You will positively die.[t] [9] Why is it that you have prophesied in the name of Jehovah, saying, 'Like that in Shi'loh[n] is how this house will become, and this very city will be devastated so as to be without an inhabitant'?"[u] And all the people kept congregating themselves about Jeremiah[a] in the house of Jehovah.[v]

10 In time the princes of Judah got to hear these words, and they proceeded to come up from the house of the king to the house of Jehovah[y] and to sit down in the entrance of the new gate of Jehovah.[z] [11] And the priests and the prophets began to say to the princes and to all the people: "To this man[b] the judgment of death belongs,[*] because he has prophesied concerning this city just as YOU have heard with YOUR own ears."[□]

12 At that Jeremiah[a] said to all the princes and to all the people: "It was Jehovah that sent me to prophesy concerning this house and concerning this city all the words that YOU have heard.[△] [13] And now make YOUR ways and YOUR dealings good,[◇] and obey the voice of Jehovah YOUR God,[c] and Jehovah will feel regret for the calamity that he has spoken against YOU.[+] [14] And as for me, here I am in YOUR hand.[⊕] Do to me according to what is good and according to what you will without fail be caught and into his hand you will be given.[#] And your own eyes will see even the eyes of the king of Babylon,[k] and his own mouth will speak even with your mouth, and to Babylon you will come.' [4] However, hear the word of Jehovah, O Zed·e·ki'ah[a] king of Judah,[n] 'This is what Jehovah has said concerning you: "You will not die by the sword. [5] In peace you will die,[s] and as with the burnings for your fathers, the former kings who happened to be prior to you,[t] so they will make a burning for you, and 'Alas, O master!' is what they will say in lament for you, for 'I myself have spoken the very word,'[u] is the utterance of Jehovah."'"'"

6 And Jeremiah[b] the prophet proceeded to speak to Zed·e·ki'ah[a] the king of Judah all these words in Jerusalem,[v] [7] when the military forces of the king of Babylon were fighting against Jerusalem and against all the cities of Judah that were left remaining,[y] against La'chish[z] and against A·ze'kah,[*] for they, the fortified cities,[□] were the ones that remained over among the cities of Judah.[△]

13 "This is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said, 'I myself concluded a covenant with YOUR forefathers[r] in the day of my bringing them out of the land of Egypt,[s] out of the house of servants,[b][t] saying: [14] "At the end of seven[c] years YOU men should let go each one his brother,[u] a Hebrew man,[v] who came to be sold to you and who has served you six years;[y] and you must let him go free[⊙] from being with you." 4 And Jeremiah[b] proceeded to call Bar'uch[*] the son of Ne·ri'ah that Bar'uch might write at the mouth of Jeremiah[b] all the words of Jehovah that He had spoken to him, on the roll of the book.[□] 5 Then Jeremiah[b] commanded Bar'uch, saying: "I am shut up. I am unable to enter into the house of Jehovah.[△] 6 And you yourself must enter in and read aloud from the roll that you have written at my mouth the words[◇] of Jehovah in the ears of the people at the house of Jehovah in the day of fast;[•] and also in the ears of all Judah who are coming in from their cities you should read them aloud.[⊕] 7 Perhaps their request for favor will fall before Jehovah[×] and they will return, each one from his bad way,[#] for great is the anger and the rage that Jehovah has spoken against this people."[k]

8 And Bar'uch[n] the son of Ne·ri'ah proceeded to do according to all that Jeremiah[b] the prophet had commanded him,[r] to read aloud from the book the words of Jehovah at the house of Jehovah.[s]

the midst of the people, as they had not put him in the house of detention.[□] [5] And there was a military force of Phar′aoh that came out of Egypt,[△] and the Chal·de′ans that were laying siege to Jerusalem got to hear the report about them. So they withdrew from against Jerusalem.[◊] [6] Then the word of Jehovah occurred to Jeremiah[a] the prophet, saying: [7] “This is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said, ‘This is what YOU men should say to the king of Judah, the one sending YOU to me to inquire of me:[+] “Look! The military force of Phar′aoh that is coming forth to YOU people for the purpose of help will certainly go back to their land, Egypt.[⊕] [8] And the Chal·de′ans will certainly come back and fight against this city and capture it and burn it with fire.”[×] [9] This is what Jehovah has said: “Do not deceive YOUR souls,[b][#] saying, ‘The Chal·de′ans will without fail go away from against us,’ because they will not go away. [10] For if YOU men had struck down all the military force of the Chal·de′ans who are fighting YOU[k] and there remained over among them men[c] pierced through,[n] they would each one in his tent rise up and actually burn this city with fire.” ’ ”[r]

11 And it occurred when the military force of the Chal·de′ans had withdrawn themselves from against Jerusalem[s] because of the military force of Phar′aoh,[t] [12] that Jeremiah[a] began to go forth from Jerusalem to go to the land of Benjamin[u] and to get [his] portion from there in the midst of the people. [13] So it came about when he was in the gate of Benjamin[v] that the officer holding the oversight, whose name was I·ri′jah the son of Shel·e·mi′ah the son of Han·a·ni′ah, was there. At once he took hold of Jeremiah[a] the prophet, saying: “It is to the Chal·de′ans that you are falling away!”[b][y] [14] But Jeremiah[a] said: “It is false![z] I am not falling away[b] to the Chal·de′ans.” But he did not listen to him. So I·ri′jah kept hold of Jeremiah[a] and brought him in to the princes. [15] And the princes began to get indignant at Jeremiah,[a][*] and they struck him[□] and put him into the house of fetters,[△] in the house of Je·hon′a·than[◊] the secretary, for this was what they had made the house of detention.[+] [16] When Jeremiah[a] came into the house of the cistern[⊕] and into the vaulted rooms, then Jeremiah[a] continued dwelling there many days.[×]

17 And King Zed·e·ki′ah[c] proceeded to send and take him, and the king began asking him questions in his house in a place of concealment.[#] And he went on to say: “Does there exist a word from Jehovah?”[k] To this Jeremiah[a] said: “There does exist!” And he said further: “Into the hand of the king of Babylon you will be given!”[n]

18 Then Jeremiah[a] said to King Zed·e·ki′ah:[c] “In what way have I sinned against you and against your servants and against this people,[r] so that YOU men have put me into the house of detention?[s] [19] Where, now, are YOUR prophets who prophesied to YOU, saying, ‘The king of Babylon will not come against YOU men and against this land’?[t] [20] And now listen, please,

40 The word that occurred to Jeremiah[b] from Jehovah after Neb·u'zar-ad'an[s] the chief of the bodyguard sent him from Ra'mah,[t] when he took him while he was bound with handcuffs in the midst of all the exiles of Jerusalem and of Judah, who were being taken into exile in Babylon.[u] [2] Then the chief of the bodyguard took Jeremiah[b] and said to him: "Jehovah your God himself spoke this calamity against this place,[v] [3] that Jehovah might bring [it] true and do just as he has spoken, because YOU people have sinned against Jehovah and have not obeyed his voice. This is what proved to be the word of Jehovah to Jeremiah[a] the prophet concerning the Phi·lis′tines[y] before Phar′aoh proceeded to strike down Ga′za.[z] [2] This is what Jehovah has said: "Look! Waters are coming[•] up from the north[□] and have become a flooding torrent. And they will flood the land and what fills it, the city and those inhabiting it.[△] And the men[b] will certainly cry out, and everyone dwelling in the land must howl.[◊] [3] At the sound of the stamping of the hoofs of his stallions,[+] at the rattling of his war chariots,[⊕] the turmoil of his wheels,[×] the fathers will actually not turn around to the sons, because of the dropping down of [their] hands,[#] [4] on account of the day that is coming to despoil all the Phi·lis′tines,[k] to cut off from Tyre[n] and from Si′don[r] every survivor that was helping.[s] For Jehovah is despoiling the Phi·lis′tines,[t] who are the remaining ones from the island of Caph′tor.[u] [5] Baldness[v] must come to Ga′za.[y] Ash′ke·lon[z] has been put to silence. O remnant of their low plain,[•] how long will you keep making cuts upon yourself?[□]

6 "Aha, the sword of Jehovah![△] How long will you not stay quiet?[◊] Be shoved[c] into your sheath.[+] Take your repose and keep silent.

7 "How can it stay quiet, when Jehovah himself has given a command to it?[⊕] It is for Ash′ke·lon and for the coast of the sea.[×] There is where he has designated it[d] to be."[#]

[a] See Jeremiah 1:1, footnote b. [b] "The men." M, ha-a·dam′. [c] Literally, "gathered," M. [d] "It," in the feminine gender, singular number, to refer to the "sword."

Kir·i·a·tha′im[r] has been put to shame, has been captured. The secure height has been put to shame and been put in terror.[s] [2] No more is there any praise of Mo′ab.[t] In Hesh′bon[u] they have thought out against her a calamity: 'Come, men, and let us cut her off from being a nation.'[v]

"You, too, O Mad′men, should keep silent. After you there walks a sword.[z] [3] There is the sound of an outcry from Hor·o·na′im,[*] a despoiling and great breaking down.[□] [4] Mo′ab has been broken down.[△] Her little ones have caused a cry to be heard.[◊] [5] For on the way up to Lu′hith[+] it is with weeping that one goes up—there is a weeping. For on the way down from Hor·o·na′im people have heard a distressing outcry indeed over the breakdown.[⊕]

6 "Take to flight; provide escape for YOUR souls,[a][×] and YOU should become like a juniper tree[b] in the wilderness.[#] [7] Because your[c] trust is in your works and in your treasures, you[c] yourself will also be captured.[k] And Che′mosh[n] will certainly go forth into exile,[r] his priests and his princes at the same time.[s] [8] And the despoiler will come in on every city,[t] and there will be no city that can make its escape.[u] And the low plain will certainly perish and the level land be annihilated, a thing that Jehovah has said.

9 "GIVE a roadmark to Mo′ab, for at the falling in ruins she will go forth;[v] and her very cities will become a mere object of astonishment, with no one dwelling in them.[y]

All the souls[d] were four thousand and six hundred.

31 At length it came about in the thirty-seventh year of the exile of Je·hoi'a·chin[×] the king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-fifth day of the month, that E'vil-me·ro'dach[#] the king of Babylon, in the year of his becoming king,[e] raised up the head[k] of Je·hoi'a·chin the king of Judah and proceeded to bring him forth from the prison house. [a] In M the title of this book is Ei·khah′! this word meaning "How!" and being the word with which the book commences. LXX, "The Lamentations [Thre′noi] of Jeremiah"; Vg, "Threni, that is, the Lamentations of Jeremiah the Prophet." [b] This is an alphabetic dirge, with 22 strophes to correspond with the 22 letters of the Hebrew alphabet, each successive strophe beginning with the successive letter of the Hebrew alphabet as indicated above each strophe. Compare Psalm 119:1, footnotes c, d. [c] LXX gives the following introduction to verse one of the Book of Lamentations: "And it occurred that, after Israel had been taken captive and Jerusalem had been desolated, Jeremiah sat down weeping and lamented with this lamentation over Jerusalem and said."

Vg introduces as follows: "And it occurred that, after Israel had been led away into captivity and Jerusalem was deserted, Jeremiah the prophet sat weeping and wailed with this lamentation over Jerusalem; and sighing with a bitter spirit, and moaning woefully, he said."

T introduces as follows: "Jeremiah the prophet and great priest said."

All her very own companions have dealt treacherously with her.[n] They have become enemies to her.[r]

ג [Gimel]

[3] Judah has gone into exile because of the affliction[s] and because of the abundance of servitude.[t]
She herself has had to dwell among the nations.[u] No resting place has she found.[v]
All those who were persecuting[a] her have overtaken her among distressing circumstances.[y]

ד [Daleth]

[4] The ways of Zion are mourning, because there are none coming to the festival.[z]
All her gates are laid desolate;[*] her priests are sighing.[□]
Her virgins are grief-stricken, and she herself has bitterness.[△]

ה [He]

[5] Her adversaries have become the head.[◊] Those who are her enemies are unconcerned.[+]
Because Jehovah himself has brought grief to her on account of the abundance of her transgressions,[⊖]
Her own children have walked captive before the adversary.[×]

[6] And out from the daughter of Zion there goes all her splendor.[#]
Her princes have proved to be like stags that have found no pasturage;[k]
And they keep walking without power before the pursuer.[b][n]

ה [He]

5 Jehovah[a] has become like an enemy.[t] He has swallowed down Israel.[u]
He has swallowed down all her dwelling towers;[v] he has brought his fortified places to ruin.[y]
And in the daughter of Judah he makes mourning and lamentation abound.[z]

ו [Waw]

6 And he treats his booth[□] violently, like one in a garden.[*] He has brought his festival to ruin.
Jehovah has caused festival and sabbath to be forgotten even in Zion,[△]
And in his angry denunciation he shows no respect for king and priest.[◊]

ז [Zayin]

7 Jehovah[a] has rejected his altar.[+] He has spurned his sanctuary.[⊕]
Into the hand of the enemy he has surrendered the walls of her dwelling towers.[×]
In the house of Jehovah they have let out [their] own voice, as in the day of a festival.[#]

ח [Heth]

8 Jehovah has thought of bringing the wall of the daughter of Zion to ruin.[k]
He has stretched out the measuring line.[n]
He has not turned back his hand from swallowing up.[r]

The above photostat of DSIa covers the leaf-column of 31 lines, which contains verses from Isaiah 29:21 to 30:20. The tetragrammaton of the divine name יהוה occurs seven times, once each in lines 2, 6, 17, 25 and 31 and twice in line 29, the lines being counted from the top of the column page. Note in line 25 that Adonay [Lord] is written above the tetragrammaton, as commented on in our footnote at Isaiah 30:15.

THE NEW WORLD BIBLE TRANSLATIONS

We are soon to see the passing of a corrupt generation. To survive we need information from God's Word. Through increased knowledge of languages and the brighter shining of light from above we have this lifesaving aid in modern Bible translations available today.

NEW WORLD TRANSLATION OF THE HEBREW SCRIPTURES (Volume I)

Available since 1953, this volume covers the first eight books of the Hebrew Scriptures—Genesis to Ruth. It contains 31,000 cross references and footnotes, maps, drawings and an appendix. It has 864 pages, is bound in green leatherette hard cover, embossed in gold. Size: 7 5/16″ x 4 7/8″ x 7/8″. Only $1.

NEW WORLD TRANSLATION OF THE HEBREW SCRIPTURES (Volume II)

Bible readers have been enjoying this translation since 1955. Historical facts take on new meaning and brightness as you read its coverage of First Samuel to Esther. It has 720 pages, with cross references, footnotes and maps. The general edition is of green leatherette hard cover, title embossed in gold, and is available for only $1.

NEW WORLD TRANSLATION OF THE HEBREW SCRIPTURES (Volume III)

You will keenly enjoy reading the poetical books of Job to The Song of Solomon, as contained in Volume III. There are 512 pages filled with wisdom and counsel. The quality and binding and appearance are the same as Volumes I and II. Only $1.

NEW WORLD TRANSLATION OF THE HEBREW SCRIPTURES (Volume IV)

There is much prophetic meaning in the laments and woes, as well as hope, that are expressed by the prophets of old. You too can have a vision of Jehovah's glorious new world now near at hand. The coverage of this volume: Isaiah to Lamentations; 416 pages. The edition available is in green leatherette and can be obtained for only $1.

NEW WORLD TRANSLATION OF THE CHRISTIAN GREEK SCRIPTURES

Here is a dependable guide in Bible research. From Matthew to Revelation this volume is the most accurate translation available. Greater understanding is given by its many cross references, footnotes and appendix. It has 800 pages bound in green leatherette. Only $1.

Any one of the above volumes can also be had in the de luxe edition, with leather binding and gold-edged leaves, for $3 each.

For ordering the above see addresses on the last page.

THE HOLY BIBLE

Here is a special edition of the Authorized or King James Version. Of great value to all Bible students is the 76-page appendix with the Index of Proper Names, Expressions and Their Meanings. Also contained is a choice selection of Bible quotations all grouped under various headings showing God's Word on Vital Subjects. This special edition has a maroon-colored leatherette binding and measures 7⅝″ x 4⅞″ x 1⅛″. Sent, postpaid, on a contribution of $1 a copy.

AMERICAN STANDARD VERSION BIBLE

The Watch Tower edition of the American Standard Version Bible presents the modern text unaltered. Translated about 300 years after the King James Version, it has taken advantage of the better understanding of Bible languages and of improved texts, thus making it more accurate. Increasing the value of this Bible is the supplementary 95-page concordance of key Bible words, names and expressions. It has a light-brown–colored binding and measures 7⅜″ x 4⅞″ x 1¼″. Mailed, postpaid, on a contribution of $1.

NEW POCKET BIBLE

Many persons have desired a pocket edition of a good translation of the Bible. This is a handy, thin pocket edition of the American Standard Version, same text as mentioned above, only in a smaller-sized book. It will be appreciated by Christian ministers. The new pocket-sized Bible, bound with a flexible cover, and red-edged, is 6 3/16″ x 4 1/8″ x 1″ and is available on a contribution of $1.50.

For ordering the above see addresses on the last page.

QUALIFIED TO BE MINISTERS

The ideal textbook for training the Christian witness of Jehovah for every part of his ministry, with the congregation and in the field, publicly and from house to house. Its valuable information is listed under the following headings: Speech Preparation; Delivery; Meetings; Composition; Private Study; Our Ministry; Congregational Activities; Worship—Clean and Unclean; Modern History of Jehovah's Witnesses, and Theocratic Society. Each of its 90 studies has comprehensive questions to facilitate personal study and for congregational or classroom use. It has 384 pages, is bound in olive-green cloth and is sent, postpaid, anywhere on a contribution of 50 cents.

"MAKE SURE OF ALL THINGS"

"Make Sure of All Things" is the Bible handbook for every Christian minister who wants handy proof from the Bible for all he believes and preaches. Seventy major Bible themes are comprehensively discussed, each of which is first defined and its origin noted. Then under subheadings dealing with various aspects of that theme Scripture texts are quoted or cited without comment, showing what the Bible teaches on the theme. It also has an alphabetical list of 287 religious subjects in its index. Bound in brown cloth, it measures 6¾" x 4½" x ½", and is available on a contribution of 75 cents a copy, postpaid.

"EQUIPPED FOR EVERY GOOD WORK"

"Equipped for Every Good Work" helps the Christian minister to be just that. It gives facts regarding the origin, preservation and authenticity of the Bible, regarding the three Bible languages, Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek, and about Hebrew and Greek Scripture papyri and vellum manuscripts. It tells of the growth of the Bible canon and of the Bible's fight to live. Then it gives the facts regarding each of the sixty-six books of the Bible, when, where and by whom written, proof of authenticity and a brief summary of its contents. It has 384 pages, is bound in maroon cloth and is available on a contribution of 50 cents.

For ordering the above see addresses on the last page.

"LET GOD BE TRUE"

Do Bible doctrines perplex you? Have your Bible questions gone unanswered? Would you appreciate knowing where the Devil came from and that man can live eternally on a paradise earth? If so, you would profit from the straightforward discussion of these questions in "Let God Be True". Sent, postpaid, on a contribution of 50 cents.

"NEW HEAVENS AND A NEW EARTH"

This Bible-study aid is new and unusual. Learn how the earth came into existence and how conscious life first stirred on it. Also be encouraged by proof of the nearness of God's new world for obedient mankind, eliminating present world woes. Send for your copy, prepaid, on a contribution of 50 cents.

YOU MAY SURVIVE ARMAGEDDON INTO GOD'S NEW WORLD

Most men live in fear of atom and hydrogen bombs. Yet a greater disaster faces mankind today—Armageddon. This is God's war to eliminate wickedness from the face of the earth. How you can survive it into God's new world is clearly outlined in this 384-page volume. Obtainable, prepaid, for 50 cents.

WHAT HAS RELIGION DONE FOR MANKIND?

Why are there so many religions, and what hope does religion offer in our critical time? Vital questions like these are answered in this volume that scholarly presents the sharp distinction between true and false religion. Read the enlightening coverage of the origin and teachings of the world's major religions. Send only 50 cents.

"THIS MEANS EVERLASTING LIFE"

How long would you like to live? In thirty chapters, "This Means Everlasting Life" presents the hope of everlasting life on a paradise earth, proves its Scriptural validity and clearly points out the requirements for such as established by the Author of life. Your copy is available for 50 cents.

For ordering the above see addresses on the last page.

EXPLANATION OF THE SYMBOLS USED IN THE LOWER MARGINAL REFERENCES

Aq

Greek translation made by Aq'ui·la, a Jewish proselyte, of the 2d century A.D. A very literal translation of the Hebrew, becoming the official Greek version for the Jews. Origen included it in the 3d column of his Hexapla, current about A.D. 245. See Foreword of the New World Translation of the Christian Greek Scriptures, page 12, ¶ 1.

Ca

Cairo Manuscript of the Prophets, in Hebrew. It contains the Earlier and Later Prophets (see Foreword, Volume I, ¶ 4) and was written by Moses ben Asher in Tiberias in Palestine, A.D. 895. It is in the Karaite Jews' synagogue of Cairo, Egypt. Accidentally discovered about 1890.

DSIa

Dead Sea Scroll of Isaiah, as now possessed by the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. Discovered in the spring of 1947 in a cave near the Dead Sea's northwestern shore, it was originally purchased by the Metropolitan at St. Mark's Monastery of the Syrian Orthodox Church in Jerusalem. Its 54 columns of beautifully preserved Hebrew writing contain the complete text of Isaiah except for a few small lacunae. It is rated as the earliest Hebrew manuscript of the Bible, and is placed by scholars in the latter half of the 2d century B.C., or the first half of the 1st century B.C., or about 100 B.C.

L

Leningrad Manuscript, catalogued as No. B 19^{A}, in Hebrew. It is the oldest dated manuscript of the complete Hebrew Bible and was copied A.D. 1008 "from the corrected clear books prepared by the master Aaron ben Mosher ben Asher." It contains the ordinary vocalization of the Hebrew consonants. It is now in the Public Library in Leningrad, Russia.

LXX

Greek Septuagint Version, begun about 280 B.C. The oldest version of the Hebrew Scriptures and a work of Jews.

LXX$^{\aleph}$

Greek Septuagint Version as found in the Codex Sinaiticus, or Sinaitic Manuscript. Of the 4th century. What remains of its translation of the Hebrew Scriptures is fragmentary. Discovered at Mt. Sinai in 1844, it is now in the British Museum, London, England.

LXX^{A}

Greek Septuagint Version as found in the Codex Alexandrinus, or Alexandrine Manuscript, of the complete Bible. Of the middle of the 5th century. From its translation of the Hebrew Scriptures the following have been lost: 1 Kings 12:17 to 14:9 and Psalms 49:20 to 79:11.

LXX^{B}

Greek Septuagint Version as found in the Codex Vaticanus, or Vatican Manuscript No. 1209. Of the 4th century. From its translation of the Hebrew Scriptures two sections are missing: the book of Genesis from its beginning up to chapter 46:28, and Psalms 105:27 to 137:6 (Psalms 106-138 in Hebrew), but which missing passages were restored by a 15th-century scribe. The Books of the Maccabees and the Psalms of Solomon, apocryphal books, are missing. Catalogued in the Vatican Library since the fifteenth century.

Masoretic Hebrew text. Here based mainly on the text of the Leningrad Hebrew Manuscript No. B 19^{A}, a representative of the ben Asher text. See L.

Sy

Syriac Peshitta Version. Parts of it may be of Jewish origin, but it was made for Syriac Christians. It is basically a translation directly of the Hebrew Scriptures, although made with some consideration of the Greek Septuagint. Its most valuable manuscript for the translation of the entire Hebrew Bible is the 6th- or 7th-century codex in the Ambrosian Library, Milan, Italy. An earlier manuscript has a date corresponding with A.D. 464.

The Targums, or Targumim, meaning "interpretations, translations." At first they were mere oral interpretations or translations in Aramaic made at the reading of the Hebrew Scriptures after Jerusalem's 70-year desolation, and later they were committed to writing. There are Targums on the Law or Pentateuch, on the Prophets and, of later date, on the Hagiographa. The three Targums on the Pentateuch are the Jerusalem Targum, the Targum of Jonathan, and the Targum of Onkelos.

Th

Greek translation made by The·o·do'tion, of Pontus, Asia Minor, between A.D. 180 and 192. It differs little from the Septuagint, like a mere revision. Origen included it in the 6th column of his Hexapla, current about A.D. 245.

Vg

Vulgata Latina or Latin Vulgate.

The Vulgate originally was a revision of the Old Latin text and was made by Eusebius Jerome, with reference to the original Hebrew and Greek of the Holy Scriptures. Begun A.D. 383, it was finished by him in 405.

PLURAL NUMBER of "YOU" and of VERBS

"YOU" printed in all capital letters denotes the plural number of this pronoun. Also, where the plural number of a verb is not certainly apparent to the reader, it is indicated by printing the VERB in all capitals.

CHAIN REFERENCE

The superior small circle, open (○) or with a dot (⊙), or a superior "p" or "q" denotes that the word that it follows is one of a chain of references, carried on all through the Hebrew Scriptures. In this the last volume of our translation of the Hebrew Scriptures there is published an alphabetic list of all words in chain reference, with the opening verse in the Hebrew Scriptures where each chain starts. The side margin cites the next link. Other symbols refer to cross references not in a chain.

The following cross reference symbols *, □, △, ◊, +, ⊕, ×, #, k to n, r to z will lead you to helpful information, such as parallel passages, geographical and biographical points, passages quoted from, etc. The letter "l" behind a cross reference symbol denotes a scripture the thought of which has been misapplied.

EZEKIEL[a]

1 And it proceeded to occur in the thirtieth year, in the fourth [month], on the fifth [day] of the month, while I was in the midst of the exiled[*] people by the river Che'bar,[□] that the heavens were opened[△] and I began to see visions of God.[b◊] 2 On the fifth [day] of the month, that is, [in] the fifth year of the exile of King Je.hoi'a.chin,[c+] 3 the word of Jehovah occurred[⊕] specifically to Ezekiel[a] the son of Bu'zi the priest in the land of the Chal.de'ans[×] by the river Che'bar, and there the hand of Jehovah came to be even upon him.[#]

4 And I began to see, and, look! there was a tempestuous wind[dk] coming from the north,[n] a great cloud mass and quivering fire, and it[e] had a brightness all around, and out of the midst of it[f] there was something like the look of electrum,[g] out of the midst of the fire.[r] 5 And out of the midst of it[f] there was the likeness of four living creatures,[hs] and this was how they looked: they had the likeness of earthling man.[i] 6 And [each] one had four faces,[t] and [each] one of them four wings.[u] 7 And their feet were

31 " 'These are the ones that Phar'aoh will see, and he will certainly be comforted over all his crowd.[□] Phar'aoh and all his military force will be people slain by the sword,' is the utterance of the Lord Jehovah.[d]

20 "And YOU people have said, 'The way of Jehovah[a] is not adjusted right.'[u] It will be each one according to his ways that I shall judge YOU, O house of Israel."[v]

21 At length it came about in the twelfth year, in the tenth [month], on the fifth day of the month of our exile,[y] that there came to me the escaped one from Jerusalem,[z] saying: "The city has been struck down!"'[*]

22 Now the very hand of Jehovah had come to be upon me in the evening before the coming of the escaped one,[□] and He proceeded to open my mouth prior to [that one's] coming to me in the morning, and my mouth was opened and I proved to be speechless no longer.[△]

23 And the word of Jehovah began to occur to me, saying: [24] "Son of man, the inhabitants of these devastated places[◊] are saying even concerning the soil of Israel, 'Abraham[○] happened to be just one and yet he took possession of the land.[+] And we are many; to us the land has been given as something to possess.'[⊕]

[7] And the guard chamber was one reed in length and one reed in width, and between the guard chambers◊ there were five cubits; and the threshold of the gate beside the porch of the gate toward the interior was one reed.

8 And he proceeded to measure the porch of the gate toward the interior, one reed. [9] So he measured the porch of the gate, eight cubits; and its side pillars,[a] two cubits; and the porch of the gate was toward the interior.

10 And the guard chambers of the gate toward the east were three on this side and three on that side.+ The three of them were of the same measurement, and the side pillars[a] were of the same measurement, on this side and on that side.

11 Then he measured the width of the entrance of the gate, ten cubits; the length of the gate, thirteen cubits.

12 And the fenced area in front of the guard chambers was one cubit, and there was a fenced area of one cubit on [either] side. And the guard chamber was six cubits on this side and six cubits on that side.

13 And he went on to measure the gate from the roof of the [one] guard chamber to the roof of the other, a width of twenty-five cubits; entrance was across from entrance. [14] Then he made side pillars of sixty cubits, even to the side pillar[s] of the courtyard⊕ in the gate[s]

[a] In M the Hebrew expression for "the temple" (ha-hei.khal') is marked with one of the 15 extraordinary points (15 puncta extraordinaria) of the Sopherim (or scribes), to be understood as a mark of criticism, and is evidently here meant to indicate that "the temple" was repeated here by mistake, because the next sentence begins with this same expression. For the first of these 15 puncta extraordinaria see Genesis 16:5, footnote b. [b] Here LXX adds: "and the width was two cubits." [c] "Temple." That is why more room was taken away than from the lowest ones and from the middle ones from the floor.

7 And the stone wall that was outside was close by the dining rooms toward the outer courtyard before the [other] dining rooms. Its length was fifty cubits. 8 For the length of the dining rooms that were toward the outer courtyard was fifty cubits, and, look! before the temple it was a hundred cubits. 9 And from below these dining rooms the entryway was to the east, when one comes in to them from the outer courtyard.

[a] "With corner structures." In M the Hebrew word for the expression is marked with one of the 15 extraordinary points (15 puncta extraordinaria) of the Sopherim (or scribes) to stigmatize this Hebrew word as spurious and hence to be omitted in pronunciation or suppressed. Regarding this, C. D. Ginsburg's Introduction to the Massoretico-Critical Edition of the Hebrew Bible, pages 332, 333, says: "It is now admitted by the best textual critics that the hybrid expression [mᵉhuqᵉtsa‘ōth′] at the end of this verse which is rendered in the Authorized Version corners (margin cornered) and in the Revised Version in the corners, but which is here stigmatized by the Massorites, is spurious and hence is to be elided. Its absence from the ancient recension is also attested by the Septuagint [LXX], the Syriac [Sy] and the Vulgate [Vg]. Accordingly the passage is simply to be translated: these four were of the same measure." Compare Ezekiel 41:20, footnote a. [b] "The man." M, ha-ish.

[a] Or, "Jehovah-sham′mah." LXX^{A}Vg, "Jehovah [Is] There."

DANIEL[a]

1 In the third year of the kingship of Je·hoi′a·kim the king of Judah, Neb·u·chad·nez′zar the king of Babylon[b] came to Jerusalem and proceeded to lay siege to it.[*] [2] In time Jehovah[c] gave into his hand Je·hoi′a·kim the king of Judah[□] and a part of the utensils[△] of the house of The [true] God,[d] so that he brought them to the land of Shi′nar[e][◊] to the house of his god;[f] and the utensils he brought to the treasure house of his god.[f][+]

3 Then the king said to Ash′pe·naz his chief court-official[g][⊕] to bring some of the sons of Israel and of the royal offspring[h] and of the nobles,[×] [4] children in whom there was no defect at all, but good in appearance and having insight into all wisdom[○] and being acquainted with knowledge, and having discernment of what is known,[#] in whom also there was ability to stand in the palace of the king;[k] and to teach them the writing and the tongue of the Chalde′ans. [5] Furthermore, to them the king appointed a daily allowance from the delicacies of the king[n] and from his drinking wine, even to nourish them for three years, that at the end of these they might stand before the king.[r]

6 Now there happened to be among them some of the sons of Judah, Daniel,[s] Han·a·ni′ah, Mish′a·el and Az·a·ri′ah.[t] [7] And to them the principal court-official went assigning names.[u] So he assigned to Daniel [the name of] Bel·teshaz′zar;[v] and to Han·a·ni′ah, Sha′drach; and to Mish′a·el, Me′shach; and to Az·a·ri′ah, A·bed′ne·go.[y] [8] But Daniel determined in his heart that he would not pollute himself with the delicacies of the king and with his drinking wine.[z] And he kept requesting of the principal court-official that he might not pollute himself.[*] [9] Accordingly The [true] God[a] gave Daniel over to loving-kindness[b] and to compassion before the principal court-official.[□] [10] So the principal court-official said to Daniel: “I am in fear of my lord[c] the king, who has appointed YOUR food and YOUR drink.[△] Why, then, should he see YOUR faces dejected-looking[◊] in comparison with the children who are of the same age as YOURS, and [why] should YOU have to make my head guilty to the king?” [11] But Daniel said to the guardian whom the principal court-official had appointed over Daniel, Han·a·ni′ah, Mish′a·el and Az·ari′ah: [12] “Please, put your servants to the test for ten days, and let them give us some vegetables[·] that we may eat and water that we may drink; [13] and let our countenances and the coun-

14 And he proceeded to listen to them as regards this matter and to put them to the test for ten days. [a] "The [true] God." M, ha-El·o·him′; LXX^Rahlfs, "the Lord"; Vg, De′us; Sy, "God." The title El·o·him′ is preceded by the article ha ("the") for emphasis. [b] Kho′resh, MSy; Ky′ros, LXX; Cy′rus, Vg. The name's meaning is now in doubt. The name is probably E′lam·ite; in which case the old Grecian derivation connecting it with khor ("the sun") in Persian is to be rejected.

2 And in the second year of the kingship of Neb·u·chad·nez′zar,[*] Neb·u·chad·nez′zar dreamed dreams;[⊙□] and his spirit began to feel agitated,[△] and his very sleep was made to be something beyond him.[◊] [2] So the king said to call the magic-practicing priests[+] and the conjurers and the sorcerers and the Chal·de′ans to tell the king his dreams.[⊕] And they proceeded to come in and to stand before the king. [3] Then the king said to them: "There is a dream that I have dreamed, and my spirit is agitated to know the dream."[×] [4] At that the Chal·de′ans spoke to the king in the Ar·a·ma′ic[a] language:[#] "O king,[b] live on even for times indefinite.[k] Say what the dream is to your servants, and we shall show the very interpretation."[n] [5] The king was answering and saying to the Chal·de′ans: "The word is being promulgated by me: If YOU men do not make the dream known to me, and its interpretation, dismembered is what YOU will be,[r] and into public privies YOUR own houses will be turned.[s] [6] But if the dream and its interpretation YOU will show, gifts and a present and much dignity YOU will receive on my part.[t] Therefore show me the very dream and its interpretation."[u]

7 They answered a second time and were saying: "Let the king say what the dream is to his servants, and we shall show its very interpretation."[v]

ceived that the word is being promulgated by me. [9] For if YOU do not make known to me the very dream, this one[y] and only sentence is upon YOU. But it is a lying and wrong word that YOU have agreed to say before me, until the time itself is changed.[z] Therefore tell me the very dream, and I shall know that YOU can show the very interpretation of it.”[*]

10 The Chal·de′ans answered before the king, and they were saying: “There does not exist a man on the dry land that is able to show the matter of the king, forasmuch as no grand king or governor has asked such a thing as this of any magic-practicing priest or conjurer or Chal·de′an. [11] But the thing that the king himself is asking is difficult, and nobody else exists who can show it before the king[□] except the gods,[a] whose own dwelling does not exist with flesh at all.”[Δ]

12 Because of this the king himself became angry and got very furious, and he said to destroy all the wise men of Babylon.[b◊] [13] And the order itself went out,[+] and the wise men were about to be killed;[c] and they looked for Daniel and his companions, for them to be killed.[⊕]

14 At that time Daniel, for his part, addressed himself with counsel and sensibleness to Ar′i·och the chief of the king's bodyguard,[×] who had gone out to kill the wise men of Babylon.[by] [15] He was answering and saying to Ar′i·och the officer of the king: “For what reason is there such a harsh order on the part of the king?” Then it was that Ar′i·och made known the matter itself to Daniel.[z] [16] So Daniel

17 After that Daniel went to his own house; and to Han·a·ni′ah, Mish′a·el and Az·a·ri′ah[□] his companions he made known the matter, [18] even [for them] to ask for mercies on the part of the God[a] of heaven concerning this secret,[bΔ] in order that they might not destroy Daniel and his companions with the remainder of the wise men of Babylon.[c◊]

19 Then it was that to Daniel in a night vision the secret[b] was revealed.[+] Consequently Daniel himself blessed the God[d] of heaven. [20] Daniel was answering and saying: “Let the name of God[e] become blessed from time indefinite even to time indefinite,[×] for wisdom and mightiness—for they belong to him.[#] [21] And he is changing times and seasons,[k] removing kings and setting up kings,[n] giving wisdom to the wise ones and knowledge to those knowing discernment.[r] [22] He is revealing the deep things and the concealed things,[s] knowing what is in the darkness;[t] and with him the light does dwell.[u] [23] To you, O God[d] of my forefathers, I am giving praise and commendation,[v] because wisdom and mightiness you have given to me.[y] And now you have made known to me what we requested of you, for you have made known to us the very matter of the king.”[z]

Compare History of the Persian Empire, by Olmstead, 1948, page 50; Light from the Ancient Past, by Finegan, 1946, page 190; also Babylonian Chronology, by Parker and Dubberstein, 1956, page 14. [b] With this verse chapter 6 begins in M, Arabic. [c] "Da·ri'us." M, Da·r'ya'wesh; understood to be a title rather than a name of rulers. The Greek historian Herodotus said it meant "Restrainer, Compeller, Commander." LXX, Da·rei'os; Vg, Da'ri·us; LXX^{Rahlfs}, "Ar·ta·xerx'es." [d] "Spirit." M, ru'ahh; LXX, pneu'ma; Vg, spir'i·tus De'i. [e] "God." M, El·ah'; LXX, The·os'; Vg, De'us.

6 Accordingly these high officials and satraps themselves entered in a throng to the king,[◊] and this is what they were saying to him: "O Da·ri′us the king, live on even for times indefinite.[+] [7] All the high officials of the kingdom, the prefects and the satraps, the high royal officers and the governors,[⊕] have taken counsel together to establish a royal statute[×] and to enforce an interdict, that whoever makes a petition to any god[a] or man[b] for thirty days except to you, O king, should be thrown to the lions' pit.[#] [8] Now, O king, may you establish the statute and sign the writing,[k] in order for [it] not to be changed, according to the law of the Medes and the Persians,[n] which is not annulled."[r]

9 In accord with this, King Da·ri′us himself signed the writing and the interdict.[s]

10 But Daniel, as soon as he knew that the writing had been signed, entered into his house, and, the windows in his roof chamber being open for him toward Jerusalem,[t] even three times in a day[u] he was kneeling on his knees and praying[v] and offering praise before his God,[c][y] as he had been regularly doing prior to this.[z] [11] At that time these able-bodied men themselves crowded in and found Daniel petitioning and imploring favor before his God.[c][*]

12 Then it was that they approached and were saying before the king concerning the interdict of the king: "Is there not an interdict that you have signed that any man that asks a petition from any god or man for thirty days except from you, O king, he should be thrown

16 Accordingly the king himself commanded,[b] and they brought Daniel and threw him into the pit of the lions.[r] The king was answering and saying to Daniel: "Your God[c] whom you are serving with constancy, he himself will rescue you."[s] [17] And a stone was brought and placed on the mouth of the pit,[t] and the king sealed it with his signet ring and with the signet ring of his grandees, in order that nothing should be changed in the case of Daniel.[u]

18 At that time the king went to his palace and spent the night fasting,[v] and no musical instruments[d] were brought in before him,[y] and his very sleep fled from him.[z] [19] Finally the king himself, at dawn, proceeded to get up in the daylight, and in a hurry he went right to the lions' pit. [20] And as he got near to the pit, he cried out with a sad voice even to Daniel. The king was speaking up and saying to Daniel: "O Daniel, servant of the living God, has your God[a] whom you are serving with constancy[*] been able to rescue you from the lions?"[□] [21] Immediately Daniel himself spoke even with the king: "O king, live on even to times indefinite.[△] [22] My own God[◊] sent his angel[+] and shut the mouth of the lions,[⊕] and they have not brought me to ruin, forasmuch as before him innocence itself was found in me;[×] and also before you, O king, no hurtful act have I done."[#]

23 Then it was that the king himself became very glad,[k] and Daniel himself he commanded to be lifted up out of the pit. And Daniel was lifted up out of the pit, and there was no hurt at all found on him, because he had trusted in his God.[n]

24 And the king commanded, and they brought these able-bodied men who had accused[b] Daniel,[r] and into the lions' pit they threw them, their sons and their wives;[s] and they had not reached the bottom of the pit before the lions had got the mastery over them, and all their bones they crushed.[t]

25 Then it was that Da·ri'us[c] the king himself wrote to all the peoples, the national groups and the tongues that are dwelling in all the earth:[u] "May YOUR peace grow very much![v]

[Continued from bottom of previous page.] comb, Jr., Professor of Old Testament, on pages 66, 67: "It is true that the name 'Darius the Mede' has not yet been found in any extra-Biblical inscription of pre-Christian times. Nevertheless, Gubaru the Governor of Babylon fits the Biblical description of Darius the Mede so remarkably that the writer believes he will be recognized in due time as the monarch who played such an important role in the life of Daniel after the Fall of Babylon. . . . In similar fashion, He assured His hearers that 'the scripture cannot be broken' (John 10:35); and that 'one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all things be accomplished' (Matt. 5:18). It is in this light that the Christian scholar must approach the Scriptures and investigate such problems as the historicity of Darius the Mede. His conviction that Darius the Mede actually lived in the sixth century B.C. and did the things ascribed to him in the Book of Daniel does not depend upon the confirmation of cuneiform documents, but he is confident that the discovery of new documents can only serve to confirm the statements of God's Word."—February, 1959.

HOSEA[a]

1 The word of Jehovah[*] that occurred to Ho·se'a[a□] the son of Be·e'ri in the days[△] of Uz·zi'ah,[◊] Jo'tham,[+] A'haz[⊕] [and] Hez·e·ki'ah,[×] kings of Judah, and in the days of Jer·o·bo'am[#] the son of Jo'ash,[k] the king of Israel. 2 There was a start of the word of Jehovah by Ho·se'a,[a] and Jehovah proceeded to say to Ho·se'a:[a] "Go,[n] take to yourself a wife of fornication[b] and children[○] of fornication,[r] because by fornication the land positively turns from following Jehovah."[s]

3 And he proceeded to go and take Go'mer the daughter of Dib·la'im, so that she became pregnant[©] and in time bore to him a son.[t]

4 And Jehovah went on to say to him: "Call his name Jez're·el,[u] for yet a little while and I must hold an accounting for the acts of bloodshed of Jez're·el[cv] against the house of Je'hu,[y] and I must cause the kingdom of the house of Israel to cease.[z] 5 And it must occur in that day that I must break the bow[*] of Israel in the low plain[d] of Jez're·el."[□]

6 And she proceeded to become pregnant another time and to give birth to a daughter. And

[a] Literally, "Ho·she'a," M; meaning "salvation; deliverance." (Ho·se'a is the first of the Twelve Prophets, whose prophecies the Hebrews group together as one book, namely, Hosea, Joel, Amos, Obadiah, Jonah, Micah, Nahum, Habakkuk, Zephaniah, Haggai, Zechariah, Malachi.) He[a] went on to say to him: “Call her name Lo-ru·ha′mah,[b△] for I shall no more show mercy again to the house of Israel, because I shall positively take them away.[c◇] [7] But to the house of Judah I shall show mercy,[+] and I will save them by Jehovah their God;[d⊕] but I shall not save them by a bow or by a sword or by war, by horses or by horsemen.”[×]

8 And she gradually weaned Lo-ru·ha′mah,[b] and she proceeded to become pregnant and give birth to a son. [9] So He[e] said: “Call his name Lo-am′mi,[f] because YOU men are not my people[g] and I myself shall prove to be not YOURS.[h#]

10 “And the number of the sons of Israel must become like the grains of the sand of the sea that cannot be measured or numbered.[w] And it must occur that in the place in which it used to be said to them, ‘YOU men are not my people,’[gn] it will be said to them, ‘The sons of the living God.’[ir] [11] And the sons of Judah and the sons of Israel will certainly be collected together into a unity[js] and will actually set up for themselves one head and go up out of the land,[t] because great will be the day of Jez′re·el.[ku]

[a] Or, "will die"; or, "will be taken away." See Isaiah 57 : 1. [b] "Man." M, ish. [c] Here M seems obscure, various corrections being suggested. [d] "God." M, El.o.him′. [e] Introduction to the Massoretico-Critical Edition of the Hebrew Bible, by C. D. Ginsburg, page 357, says: "The ancient authorities state that the original reading here was *k*ᵉ*bo.di′ my glory,* instead of *k*ᵉ*bo.dam′ their glory.* But it is evident from the context that this only exhibits partially the alteration which the Sopherim introduced here, since 'I will change my glory into shame' is both against the context and against the principle which underlies these alterations. There can, therefore, be no doubt that the alteration also included the verb which as the Mechiltha [a commentary by rabbis on Exodus] rightly points out was originally he.mir′ or he.mi′ru Hiphil preterite third person, i.e. they have changed, instead of a.mir′ future first person singular, i.e. I will change. Accordingly the text originally read:

My glory they have changed into shame which the Sopherim altered into:

Their glory I will change into shame."

With this SyT agree. This case is one of the "Eighteen Emendations" of the Jewish Sopherim. Compare Genesis 18 : 22, footnote a.

9 "And it will have to become for the people the same as for the priest;[□] and I shall certainly hold an accounting against them for their ways,[△] and their dealings I shall bring back upon them.[◊] [10] And they will actually eat, but will not get satisfied.[+] They will actually treat [women] as prostitutes; but they will not increase,[⊕] because they have left off paying regard to Jehovah himself.[×] [11] Fornication and wine and sweet wine are what take away good motive.[c][#] [12] Of their wooden [idol][d] my own people keep inquiring,[k] and their own [hand] staff keeps telling them; because the very spirit of fornication has caused them to wander off,[n] and by fornication they go out from under their God.[e][r] [13] On the tops of the mountains they sacrifice,[s] and on the hills they make sacrificial smoke,[t] under vigorous tree and storax tree and big tree, because its shade is good.[u] That is why YOUR daughters commit fornication and YOUR own daughters-in-law commit adultery.[v]

14 "Shall I not hold an accounting against YOUR daughters because they commit fornication, and against YOUR daughters-in-law because they commit adultery? For, as regards them, it is with the prostitute[m] women that they get off to themselves,[y] and with the female temple prostitutes[z] that they sacrifice; and a people [that] does not understand will be trodden down.[*] [15] Although you are committing fornication, O Israel,[□] let not Judah become guilty,[△]

OBADIAH[a]

1 The vision of O.ba.di'ah:[a]

This is what the Lord Jehovah[b] has said regarding E'dom:[*] "There is a report that we have heard from Jehovah, and there is an envoy who has been sent among the nations, 'Rise up, YOU people, and let us rise up against her in battle.' "[□]

2 "Look! 5 "If it were thieves[©] that came in to you, if despoilers [came in] by night, to what extent[d] would you have been silenced?[k] Would they not steal as much as they wanted? Or if it were grape gatherers that came in to you, would they not let some gleanings remain?[n] 6 O the extent to which[e] those of E'sau have been searched out![r] [How] his concealed treasures have been sought out![s] 7 As far as the boundary

15 "As in the days of your coming forth from the land of Egypt I shall show him wonderful things.[×] [16] Nations will see and become ashamed because of all their mightiness.[#] They will put [their] hand upon [their] mouth;[k] their very ears will become deaf. [17] They will lick up dust like the serpents;[○n] like reptiles of [the] earth they will come in agitation out of their bulwarks.[r] To Jehovah our God[f] they will come trembling, and they will be afraid of you."[es]

18 Who is a God[g⊚] like you,[t] one pardoning error and passing over transgression[○u] of the remnant of his inheritance?[v] He will certainly not hold onto his anger forever, for he is delighting in loving-kindness.[hy] [19] He will again show us mercy;[⊚z] he will subject our errors.[•]

[e] According to some, most of the first chapter of Nahum's prophecy is a poem, the lines of which begin with the different letters of the Hebrew alphabet in their proper order. The poem is not complete; it goes only as far as verse 8 or verse 10 and thus covers over half of the alphabet. R. Kittel's Hebrew text begins the poem in verse 2, with a larger, heavier letter aleph (א), but the second line of which verse begins with an enlarged letter nun (נ). The first line of verse 3 begins with the divine name or tetragrammaton, and the second line of this verse with an enlarged beth (ב). The succeeding twelve lines, down to the end of verse 10, have the initial letters in alphabetic order, with mem (מ), however, ahead of lamed (ל), and nun (נ) missing because of already appearing in verse 2.

[a] "As [the] east wind," T and Habakkuk Commentary of the Dead Sea Scrolls discovered in 1947; "to the east," M; "as a burning wind," Vg. [b] "Wind." M, ru′ahh; LXX, to pneu′ma; Vg, spir′i·tus. [c] "God." M, el·o′ah; LXX, ho the·os′; Vg, de′us. [d] "God." El·o·him′. [e] "You do not die." This is where one of the Eighteen Emendations of the Sopherim, or tiqqunei sopherim, occurred. M reads: "We shall not die." Says Introduction to the Massoretico-Critical Edition of the Hebrew Bible, by C. D. Ginsburg (1897), on page 358: "All the ancient records emphatically state that this exhibits the corrected text by the Sopherim and that the original reading was: 'Art thou not from everlasting? O Lord my God, mine Holy One, thou diest not.' The parallelism plainly shows that this is the correct reading. The address in both clauses is to the Lord who is described in the first clause as being from everlasting and in the second clause as never dying or enduring for ever. The introduction, therefore, of a new subject in the plural with the predicate 'we shall not die' thus ascribing immortality to the people is contrary to the scope of the passage. Not only has the Chaldee preserved the original reading by paraphrasing it 'thy word endureth for ever', but Rashi (1040-1105) makes it the basis of his explanation. 'The prophet says why art thou silent to all this. Art thou not from everlasting my God, mine Holy One, who diest not.' It is very remarkable that the [English] Revised Version [of 1885] which has not noticed any other of the alterations of the Sopherim has the following note in the margin on this passage: 'according to an ancient Jewish tradition thou diest not'. The reason for the alteration is not far to seek. It was considered offensive to predicate of the Lord 'thou diest not'. Hence 'we shall not die' was substituted."

T, "your word [meim′ra] will stand [endure] to times indefinite." See Genesis 18:22, footnote a.

Jehovah, for a judgment you have set it; and,
O Rock,[◊] for a reproving you have founded it.[+]

13 You are too pure in eyes to see what is bad; and to look on trouble you are not able.[⊕] Why is it that you look on those dealing treacherously,[×] that you keep silent when someone wicked swallows up someone more righteous than he is?[#] [14] And [why] do you make earthling man like the fishes of the sea, like creeping things over whom no one is ruling?[k] [15] All these he has brought up with a mere fishhook;[n] he drags them away in his dragnet, and he gathers them in his fishing net.[r] That is why he rejoices and is joyful.[s] [16] That is why he offers sacrifice to his dragnet and makes sacrificial smoke to his fishing net; for by them his portion is well oiled, and his food is healthful.[a][t] [17] Is that why he will empty out his dragnet, and does he have to kill nations constantly, while he shows no compassion?[u]

2 At my guard post I will keep standing, and I will keep myself stationed upon [the] bulwark;[b] and I shall keep watch,[v] to see what he will speak by[c] me[y] and what I shall reply at the reproof of me.[z]

2 And Jehovah proceeded to answer me and to say: "Write down [the] vision,[○] and set [it] out plainly upon tablets,[⊚][*] in order that the one reading aloud from it may do so fluently.[d][□] [3] For [the] vision is yet for the appointed[p] time,[△]

See Genesis 39:3, footnote d. [e] "Mak'tesh." Meaning "a mortar," and denoting the Mortar-Quarter of the city of Jerusalem. Says footnote 2 of page 52 of Jerusalem in the Old Testament, by Dr. J. Simons, S.J. (1952): "While, therefore, the Old Testament name of the Central Valley remains entirely unknown to us, we probably possess the special name of a part of it. Zephaniah (i 11) addresses himself to the 'inhabitants of the mortar (mah-tes')', where the silversmiths appear to have been established. After the context this quarter may have been part of the then already existing Mishneh or Second City. Mah.tes' may therefore be taken for the basin formed by the junction of the Central Valley and the Cross-Valley . . . rather than the area in the bend of the Central Valley. . . . The name occurs nowhere [See bottom of next page.] for all the people who are tradesmen have been silenced;[s] all those weighing out silver have been cut off.

HAGGAI[a]

1 In the second year of Da·ri'us the king,[•] in the sixth month, on the first day of the month, the word of Jehovah occurred by the hand of Hag'gai[a][□] the prophet to Ze·rub'ba·bel[△]

2 "This is what Jehovah of armies[d] has said,
'As regards this people, they have said: "The time has not come, the time of the house of Jehovah, for [it] to be built."' "[×]

3 And the word of Jehovah continued to come by the hand of Hag'gai[a] the prophet, saying: [4] "Is it the time for YOU yourselves to dwell in YOUR paneled houses,[#] while this house is waste?[k] [5] And now this is what Jehovah of armies[d] has said, 'Set YOUR heart upon YOUR ways.[n] [6] YOU have sown much seed, but there is a bringing of little in.[r] There is an eating, but it is not to satisfaction.[s] There is a drinking, but not to the point of getting intoxicated.
There is a putting on of clothes, but it is not with anyone's getting warm; and he that is hiring himself out is hiring himself out for a

5 " 'As for YOUR fathers, where are they?[r] And as for the prophets,[s] was it to time indefinite that they continued to live? [6] However, as regards my words and my regulations that I commanded my servants, the prophets,[t] did they not catch up with YOUR fathers?' "[u]

So they returned and said: "According to what Jehovah of armies[a] had in mind to do to us,[v] according to our ways and according to our dealings, that is how he has done with us."[y]

Says Ginsburg's Introduction to the Massoretico-Critical Edition of the Hebrew Bible (1897), on page 359: "Here the original reading, which was: 'he that toucheth you toucheth the apple of (עיני) my eye', has been altered by the Sopherim into: 'he that toucheth you toucheth the apple of (עינו) his eye, i.e. as if one were to touch the apple of his own eye. Though 'the eye of the Lord' is not unfrequently used in the Bible yet 'the apple of my eye' (בבת עיני) occurs no where else. It was, therefore, regarded derogatory to the Deity that he himself should ascribe to himself so pronounced an anthropomorphatic feature. Hence in accordance with the rule which underlies these alterations the Yod (י) was changed into Vau (ו) as in the case of the alteration exhibited in No. 9 [Jeremiah 2:11]." Here occurred one of the emendations of the Jewish Sopherim, or tiqqunei sopherim. Compare Genesis 18: 22, footnote a. Says Ginsburg's Introduction to the Massoretico-Critical Edition of the Hebrew Bible (1897), on pages 362, 363, ¶¶ 3, 4: "The oldest Massorah in the St. Petersburg Codex of A.D. 916, which registers these alterations of the Sopherim, adds two more examples which are not given in any of the ancient documents. And though the catchwords are simply given without mentioning what the original reading was which the Sopherim altered, there is no difficulty in ascertaining it by the light of the other Sopheric alteration and by bearing in mind the principle which underlies these changes. ¶ The catchword for the first change is mᵉhhal.lᵉlim′ = Malachi I 12. This indicates that originally the text was: mᵉhhal.lᵉlim′ o.thi′ 'ye have polluted me' (compare Ezek. XIII 19), and that o.thi′ me has been altered into o.tho′ him, in accordance with the same alteration which we are told the Sopherim made in verse 13, [See bottom of next page.]

[Continued from bottom of previous page.] the Sopherim, adds two more examples which are not given in any of the ancient documents. . . . The catchword for the second change is qo.bᵉyim′ [are robbing] which manifestly refers to Malachi III 9. The original reading here was: 'with a curse ye have cursed' (mᵉa.rᵉrim′), the active participle as is evident from the parallelism:

Ye have cursed with a curse
And ye have robbed me.

"As this cursing was pronounced against God which was blasphemy in the highest degree, the active was changed into the passive by the substitution of Nun [נ] for Mem [מ] which now makes this clause quite detached from the rest of the sentence. The anxiety to mitigate this clause is also seen from the recension which the Greek translators had before them since the Septuagint [LXX] exhibits bam.mar.eh′ at.tem′ ro.im′ in a vision ye have seen." M, "YOU are cursed" (ne.a.rim′).

[a] See Malachi 1:4, footnote b. [b] The LXX reverses verse 4 and the concluding verses to make the prophecy end with this verse, so that thus the prophecy ends on a hopeful note. This conforms to the Jewish custom of not closing a book of the Holy Scriptures with words of condemnation and hence their custom of repeating a hopeful verse at the end of a book. [c] "E.li'jah." M, *E.liy.yah'; LXX*Vg, "E.li'as." [d] Or, "land." M, er'ets; LXX, gē; Vg, ter'ra. [e] Or, "with a ban." Because of this ending to the prophecy the Jewish custom is to repeat verse 5 after the close of this book, that is, verse 23 in M. The Jewish custom is to make like repetitions at the end of Isaiah, Lamentations and Ecclesiastes, as here in Malachi.

Genesis 2:4 — "history"

(to·lᵉdōth', תולדות, Hebrew; he bib'los ge·ne'se·ōs, ἡ ϐίϐλος γενέσεως ["the book of source (generation)"], Greek)

The Hebrew word to·lᵉdōth' is here translated as "history" by the German Elberfelder Bible (reading "Geschichte"); and by the French Bible editions by Achille Cardinal Lienart (1951), by Canon A. Crampon (1939), and by the Monks of Maredsous (1949), all these reading "histoire"; and by the Spanish Bible edition by J. M. Bover and F. Cantera Burgos (1947), reading "historia." The Twenty-four Books of the Holy Scriptures, by the American rabbi and journalist, Isaac Leeser, renders the word in the customary way as "generations," but has the footnote thereon: " 'The history of the creation.'—MENDELSSOHN." The Bible edition sponsored by the Episcopal Committee of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine and translated by members of the Catholic Biblical Association of America (1948-——), renders the Hebrew word as "story," but has the footnote thereon: "Story: or history. Literally: 'generations.' "

Gesenius' Hebrew and Chaldee Lexicon of the Old Testament Scriptures, as translated by Samuel Prideaux Tregelles, LL.D. (1859), says, on page 859, under the Hebrew word to·lᵉdōth′: "(2) history, properly of families. Gen. 6:9, ēl′leh to·lᵉdōth′ No′ahh 'this is the history of Noah.' Genesis 37:2; and thus also applied to the origin of other things. Gen. 2:4, 'this is the origin of the heaven and earth.' (Compare ya′hhas and Syriac shar′ba family, genealogy, history.)"

Says P. J. Wiseman, C.B.E., in his book entitled "New Discoveries in Babylonia About Genesis" (fourth edition, 1946), in chapter 5, entitled "The Key That Unlocks the Book," pages 45ff: "The master-key to the discovery of the composition of the Book of Genesis is to be found in the proper use of the phrase, 'These are the generations of . . . ' If this key is handled properly, it will be seen that it solves every literary difficulty, critical or otherwise. ¶ All scholars appear to agree that this is the most significant and distinguishing phrase in the Book. For example, Dr. Driver says (Genesis, p.ii), 'The narrative of Genesis is cast into a framework, or scheme, marked by the recurring formula "these are the generations (lit., begettings) of . . ." The entire narrative as we now possess it is accommodated to it.' . . . The formula is used eleven times in Genesis. As to its importance there can be no doubt, for so significant did the Septuagint translators regard it, that they gave the whole Book the title 'Genesis,' the Greek equivalent of the Hebrew word translated 'generations.' ¶ . . . in fact, the main history of the person named has been written before the phrase and most certainly is not written after it. . . . It is therefore clear that this phrase is not an introduction or preface to the history of a person as is so often imagined. . . . ¶ . . . It is therefore evident that the formula is not a preamble to a genealogical list but an ending to such a list or narrative. This may be seen from numerous early tablets." On the use of the demonstrative pronoun these to refer to what precedes, attention is called to the final verse of the book of Leviticus and the final verse of the book of Numbers.

In Genesis the New World Translation renders the Hebrew word to·lᵉdōth′ consistently as "history" in the following eleven critical verses: Genesis 2:4; 5:1; 6:9; 10:1; 11:10; 11:27; 25:12; 25:19; 36:1; 36:9; 37:2.

See also "Matthew 1:1 — 'history' " on page 757 of the Appendix of the New World Translation of the Christian Greek Scriptures (1950).

Genesis 5:22, 24 — "The God"

This is the English translation of the Hebrew expression האלהים, ha-El·o·him′, namely, the Hebrew title El·o·him′; which is the plural number of the word El·o′ah and which means "God" when applied to the Creator Jehovah, preceded by the Hebrew definite article ha. Beginning with 1 Samuel 4:4 we have rendered this expression, when applying to the Creator Jehovah, "The [true] God."

That the Hebrew plural word El·o·him′ as applied to the Creator Jehovah does not mean that there are a number of gods in this one divinity but that this word El·o·him′ is merely in the plural number of excellence or of majesty, we refer to Gesenius' Hebrew Grammar as edited and enlarged by the late E. Kautzsch and revised in its second English edition by A. E. Cowley and reprinted photographically in Great Britain at the University Press, Oxford, in 1949, from corrected sheets of the second edition. In section 124 under the heading "The Various Uses of the Plural-form," it says, on pages 398, 399, in paragraph g:

"The pluralis excellentiae or maiestatis . . . is properly a variety of the abstract plural, since it sums up the several characteristics belonging to the idea, besides possessing the secondary sense of an intensification of the original idea. It is thus closely related to the plurals of amplification . . . which are mostly found in poetry. So especially אלהים Godhead, God (to be distinguished from the numerical plural gods, Exodus 12:12, &c.). The supposition that אלהים is to be regarded as merely a remnant of earlier polytheistic views (that is, as originally only a numerical plural) is at least highly improbable, and, moreover, would not explain the analogous plurals (see below). That the language has entirely rejected the idea of numerical plurality in אלהים (whenever it denotes one God), is proved especially by its being almost invariably joined with a singular attribute . . . , for example, אלהים צדיק Psalm 7:10, &c. Hence אלהים may have been used originally not only as a numerical but also as an abstract plural (corresponding to the Latin numen, and our Godhead), and, like other abstracts of the same kind, have been transferred to a concrete single god (even of the heathen)."

In support of our rendering האלהים into English as "The [true] God," we refer to the above Gesenius' Hebrew Grammar, under section 126, entitled "Determination by Means of the Article," and paragraph d on pages 404, 405, which says: "The article is, generally speaking, employed to determine a substantive wherever it is required by Greek and English; thus: . . . (d) When terms applying to whole classes are restricted (simply by usage) to particular individuals . . . or things, for example, שטן adversary, השטן the adversary, Satan; בעל lord, הבעל Baal as proper name of the god; האדם the (first) man, Adam; האלהים or האל ho theós, the one true God (compare also ho Khristós in the New Testament); . . ." And section 141, entitled "The Noun-clause," says, in paragraph f, on page 453: "To what period of time the statement applies must be inferred from the context; for example, 1 Kings 18:21 יהוה האלהים the Lord is the true God; . . ."

For the reader's quick reference we list below the verses where the Hebrew expression ha-El·o·him′, as applying to the Creator Jehovah, occurs:

Isaiah 5:16; 42:5.
Jeremiah 32:18.
Daniel 9:4.

By looking up the footnotes on the above-cited verses the reader will gain more information relative to the Hebrew expressions ha-El·o·him′ and ha-El.

Genesis 15:2 — A·do·nay′ — "Lord"

This Hebrew word A.do.nay′ occurs 432 times in the Masoretic text (M). It is applied exclusively to Jehovah God.

However, there were 134 passages in M where the Jewish Sopherim claim that they substituted this word A·do·nay′ for the name Yᵉho·wah′ ("Jehovah") in the primitive Hebrew text. (See below on this same page under "Genesis 18:3 — 'Jehovah'") We have therefore restored the name "Jehovah" to those 134 passages, and thus reduced the number of occurrences of A·do·nay′ to 298 times.

The first occurrence of A·do·nay′ is in the verse cited above, where it precedes the divine name to produce the combination A·do·nay′ Yᵉho·wih′, which is translated "Lord Jehovah." (From Psalm 71:5, 16 forward "Sovereign Lord Jehovah.") This combination occurs 280 times by itself.

Besides this, beginning with Psalm 69:6, the combination A·do·nay′ Yᵉho·wih′ tsᵉba·ōth′ ("Sovereign Lord Jehovah of armies") occurs 16 times, as follows:

Psalm 69:6; Isaiah 3:15; 10:23, 24; 22:5, 12, 14, 15; 28:22; Jeremiah 2:19; 46:10, 10; 49:5; 50:25, 31; Amos 9:5 ("of the armies").

Beginning with Psalm 68:20, A·do·nay′ follows the divine name, to form the combination Yᵉho·wih′ A·do·nay′ ("Jehovah the Sovereign Lord"), in five passages, as follows:
Psalms 68:20; 109:21; 140:7; 141:8; Habakkuk 3:19.

A·do·nay′ ("the Sovereign Lord") occurs in Psalm 35:23b, and there we rendered it "my Sovereign Lord," in order for it to run parallel with "O my God," on the same line. LXX (34:23) reads: ho Ky′ri·os mou; Vg (34:23), Do′mi·nus me′us. But A·do·nay′ here should be Yᵉho·wah′. See below.

Following the later practice of the Jewish rabbis in reading A·do·nay′ instead of the divine name Yᵉho·wah′, the later copyists of the Greek LXX substituted the anarthrous Greek title Ky′ri·os ("Lord; Master") for the Hebrew tetragrammaton יהוה, which had been transliterated into the Greek text.

Genesis 18:3 — "Jehovah"

(אדני, A·do·nay′, Hebrew Masoretic Text; Κύριε Ky′ri·e, Greek LXX; Do′mi·ne, Latin Vg; Mar′ya, Syriac Peshitta; יְיָ, YᵉYa, Aramaic Targum of Onkelos; "My lords," Samaritan Pentateuch, with the following second-person pronouns in the plural number)

The above is one of the 134 places where the Jewish Sopherim or scribes claim that they altered the primitive Hebrew text to read A·do·nay′ (meaning "Lord") instead of Yᵉho·wah′ ("Jehovah"). In all these places we have taken the reading of the primitive Hebrew text instead of that of the traditional Hebrew Masoretic text and thus have rendered the divine name Yᵉho·wah′ into the English as "Jehovah." Below we list all the other places shown in the Mas·sō·rah (paragraphs 107-115, Ginsburg's edition), where we have followed the reading of the primitive Hebrew text. It would be profitable for the reader of the New World Translation to refer to the footnotes that are given in these 134 places, to discern how the text of individual Hebrew manuscripts and also the reading of the various ancient versions in Latin, Greek, Syriac and Aramaic support the primitive Hebrew text.

Micah 1:2.
Zechariah 9:4.
Malachi 1:12, 14.

On the above Scripture citations we refer the reader to Dr. Solomon Mandelkern's (1925) Veteris Testamenti Concordantiae Hebraicai atque Chaldaicae ("Hebrew and Chaldean Concordance of the Old Testament"), page 16, columns 1-3, and page 1432, column 3, under יהוה אדני.

In addition to the above, we call attention to the following places where the Jewish Sopherim claim they altered the primitive Hebrew text to read El·o·him′ ("God") instead of Yᵉho·wah′ ("Jehovah"): Psalms 14:1, 2, 5; 53:1, 2, 4, 5. A change similar to the latter was claimed to have been made by the Jewish Sopherim in 2 Samuel 5:19-25; 6:9-17; 1 Chronicles 13:12; 14:10, 11, 14, 16; 16:1. However, in these places we have followed the reading of the Hebrew text as published by Rudolf Kittel and his survivors, A. Alt, O. Eissfeldt and P. Kahle. (See THE HEBREW TEXT on page 19 of the Foreword of Volume I of the New World Translation of the Hebrew Scriptures.) See the footnotes to these verses for additional information.

For another rendering of the Hebrew text to read "Jehovah" we refer the reader to Zechariah 6:8, where the final yod ("i") in the Hebrew word is understood to be an abbreviation of the divine name instead of meaning "my." This may also be the case in Ezekiel 43:3; Habakkuk 3:19; Zephaniah 2:12; Zechariah 11:10 (once for "my" and once for "I"); 14:5. But the reverse appears to be the case in Judges 19:18, where evidently "my" was intended rather than the divine name. See the footnotes on the above verses.

"Emendations of the Sopherim" (Tiqqunei Sopherim)

In standard Hebrew manuscripts the Massōrah, that is, the small writing in the margins of the page, contains a note opposite a number of Hebrew passages that reads: "This is one of the eighteen Emendations of the Sopherim," or similar words. These emendations of the Jewish Sopherim were called tiqqunei Sopherim. These emendations were made, evidently with good intentions, because the original passage in the Hebrew text appeared to show irreverence for Jehovah God or disrespect for his earthly representatives. However, there were more than eighteen of such emendations. Below we list twenty-eight of such tiqqunei Sopherim, in the most of which we have corrected the reading according to the original, unemended text.

Genesis 18:22.
Numbers 11:15; 12:12.
1 Samuel 3:13.
2 Samuel 12:14; 16:12; 20:1.
1 Kings 12:16; 21:10, 13.
2 Chronicles 10:16.
Job 1:5, 11; 2:5, 9; 7:20; 32:3.
Psalms 10:3; 106:20.
Ecclesiastes 3:21.
Jeremiah 2:11.
Lamentations 3:20.
Ezekiel 8:17.
Hosea 4:7.
Habakkuk 1:12.
Zechariah 2:12.
Malachi 1:12; 3:9.

The reader will do well to read the footnotes to these verses.

1 Samuel 1:10 — "soul"

(נפשׁ, neph′esh, Hebrew; ψυχή, psy·chē′, Greek; a′ni·ma, Latin)

As in the Octateuch, or first eight books of the Hebrew Scriptures, contained in the first volume of the New World Translation of the Hebrew Scriptures, we have succeeded in consistently rendering the Hebrew word neph′esh as "soul" throughout the rest of the Hebrew Scriptures, from 1 Samuel through Malachi. By studying over the context of the Hebrew word neph′esh in its 519 occurrences in this latter, larger portion of the Hebrew Scriptures the investigator can learn distinguishing features about the soul in its true meaning. To aid in this we have grouped below, under various headings, the texts where the Hebrew word neph′esh occurs. This list bears a comparison with that given in the Appendix of the New World Translation of the Hebrew Scriptures, Volume I, pages 844-851, and the New World Translation of the Christian Greek Scriptures, pages 762-766. It will further aid the student if he consults the footnote given on the word in any verse.

1 Samuel 2:6 — "Sheol"

(שאול, Hebrew; ᾅδης, Hai′des, Greek; in′fe·ri, Latin; Shi·ul′, Syriac)

The Hebrew word שאול (Sh^{e}ol), which we have transliterated in all cases as "She′ol," occurs 65 times in the Hebrew text from Genesis to Malachi. This word, which refers to gravedom or the general realm of the dead, is to be distinguished from the Hebrew word qeb′er, which means a burial place (as in Genesis 23:4), and from q^{e}bu·rah′, which means a grave (as in Genesis 35:20). To complete the list of occurrences of Sh^{e}ol, which was begun in the first volume of the New World Translation of the Hebrew Scriptures, we list below the remaining 58 occurrences in the rest of the Hebrew Scriptures. (See the Appendix of Volume I, pages 851, 852.)

Nehemiah 11: 30 — "Gehenna"

(גיא־הנם, Gey Hin·nom′, Hebrew; Γέεννα, Ge′en·na, Greek; Ge·en′nom, Latin)

This continues the reference to the word "Gehenna" as begun in the Appendix (page 852) of Volume I of the New World Translation of the Hebrew Scriptures. "Gehenna" is the Greek name of the place and literally means "Hinnom Valley" or "Valley of Hinnom." In the Hebrew Scriptures, aside from the above Scripture verse and Joshua 15:8b; 18:16b, it is spoken of as the valley of the son (or sons) of Hinnom. (See "Gehenna" in the Appendix of the New World Translation of the Christian Greek Scriptures, on pages 766, 767.) Below we give the remaining verses in the Hebrew Scriptures showing the extraction of the word "Gehenna":

2 Kings
23:10 And he made unfit for worship To′pheth, which is in the valley of the sons of Hin′nom [gey bᵉney-Hin·nom′, Hebrew; convallis fil′i·i En′nom, Latin], that no one might make his son or his daughter pass through the fire to Mo′lech.

2 Chronicles
28:3 And he himself made sacrificial smoke in the valley of the son of Hin′nom [gey ben-Hin·nom′, M; Gaibenenom, Greek LXX; vallis Benennom, Vg] and proceeded to burn up his sons in the fire
33:6 And he himself made his own sons pass through the fire in the valley of the son of Hin′nom [gey ben-Hin·nom′, M; Gai·banai-ennom, LXX; vallis Benennom, Vg], and practiced magic

Nehemiah
